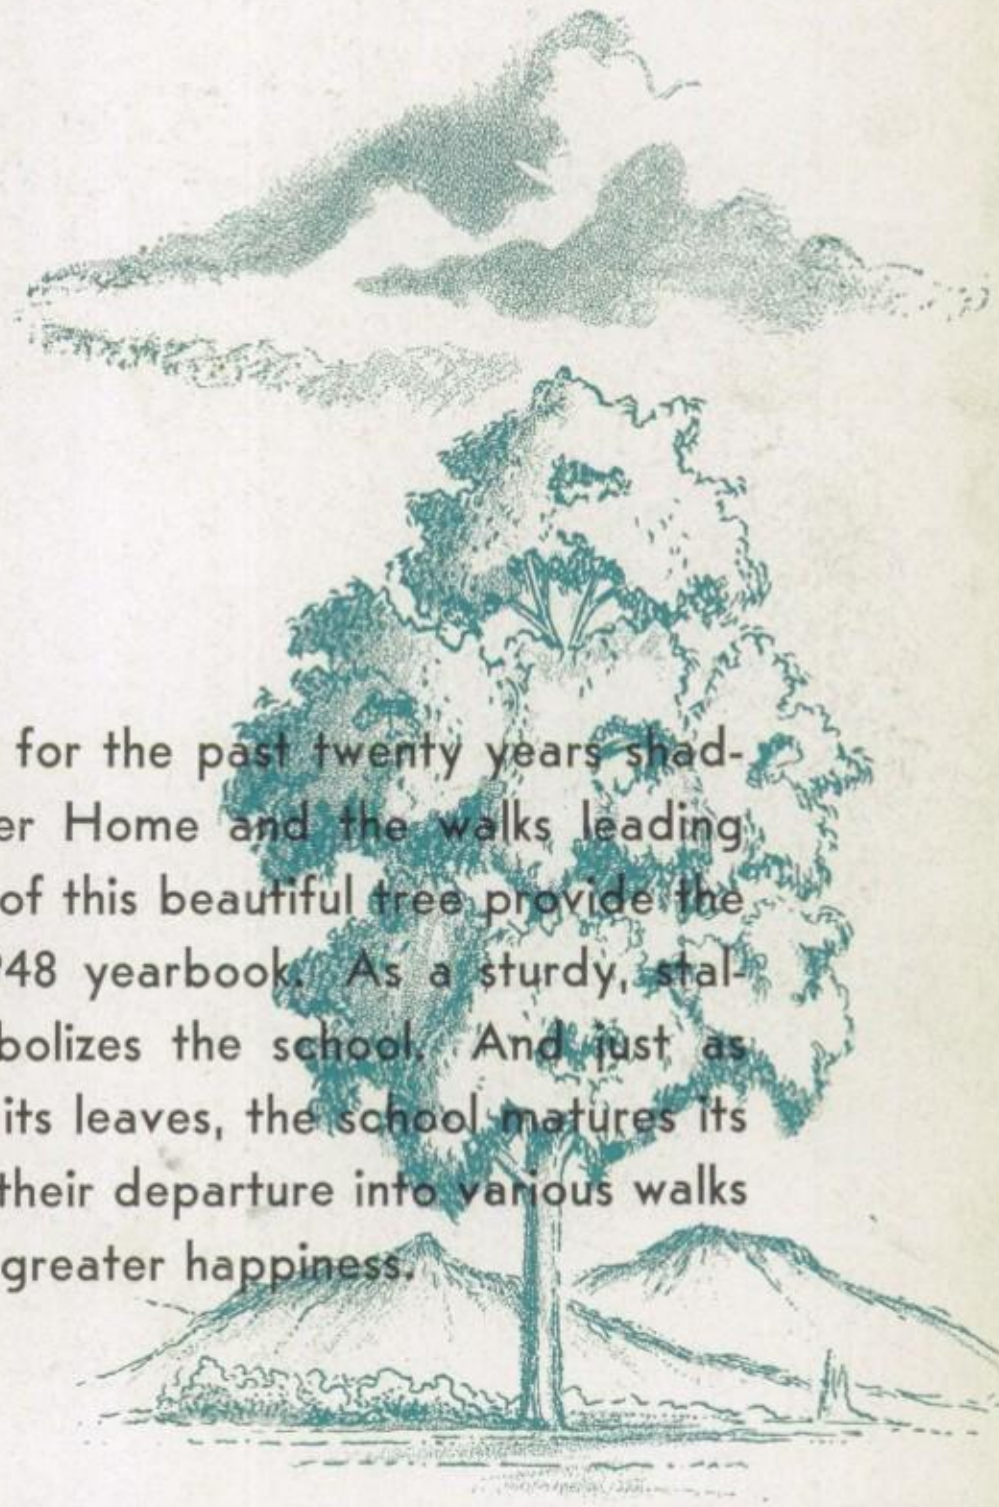
The Seasonal Splendor Of School Life

Hackberry Street Plays Host To One

Hackberry Leaves



Hackberry leaves for the past twenty years shadowed the Cavalier Home and the walks leading to it. The leaves of this beautiful tree provide the theme for our 1948 yearbook. As a sturdy, stalwart tree it symbolizes the school. And just as the tree nurtures its leaves, the school matures its students, so that their departure into various walks of life may bring greater happiness.

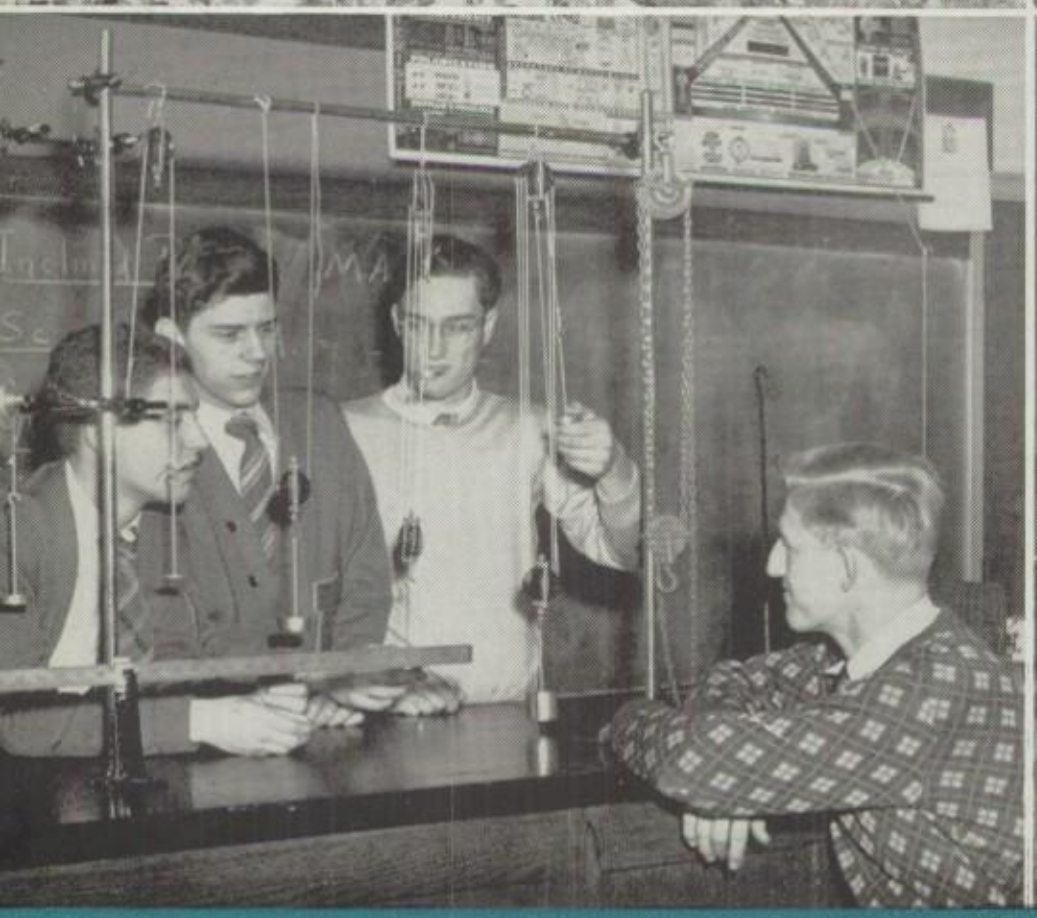
Thousand Eighty Cavalier Students

In the vicinity of the school, watercolorists enjoy outdoor class while capturing the beauty of Autumn.

Bill Adkins, Bob Curry, and Pat Close absorb Jim Schlueter's attention as they toy with the pulleys.

The biology students are introduced to the intricacies of the human body with the aid of models.

A reading from Shakespeare is illustrated with a bang by Tom Bruggeman, Henry Liebel and Jim Macke.

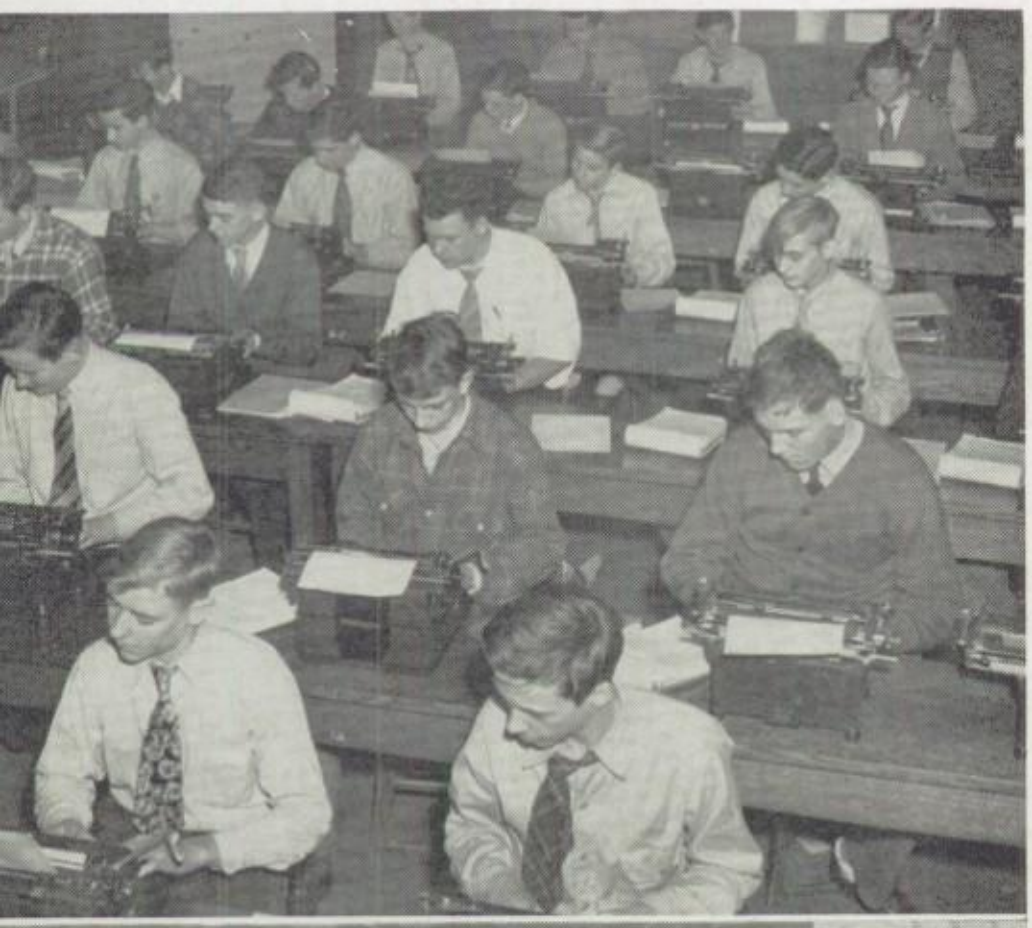


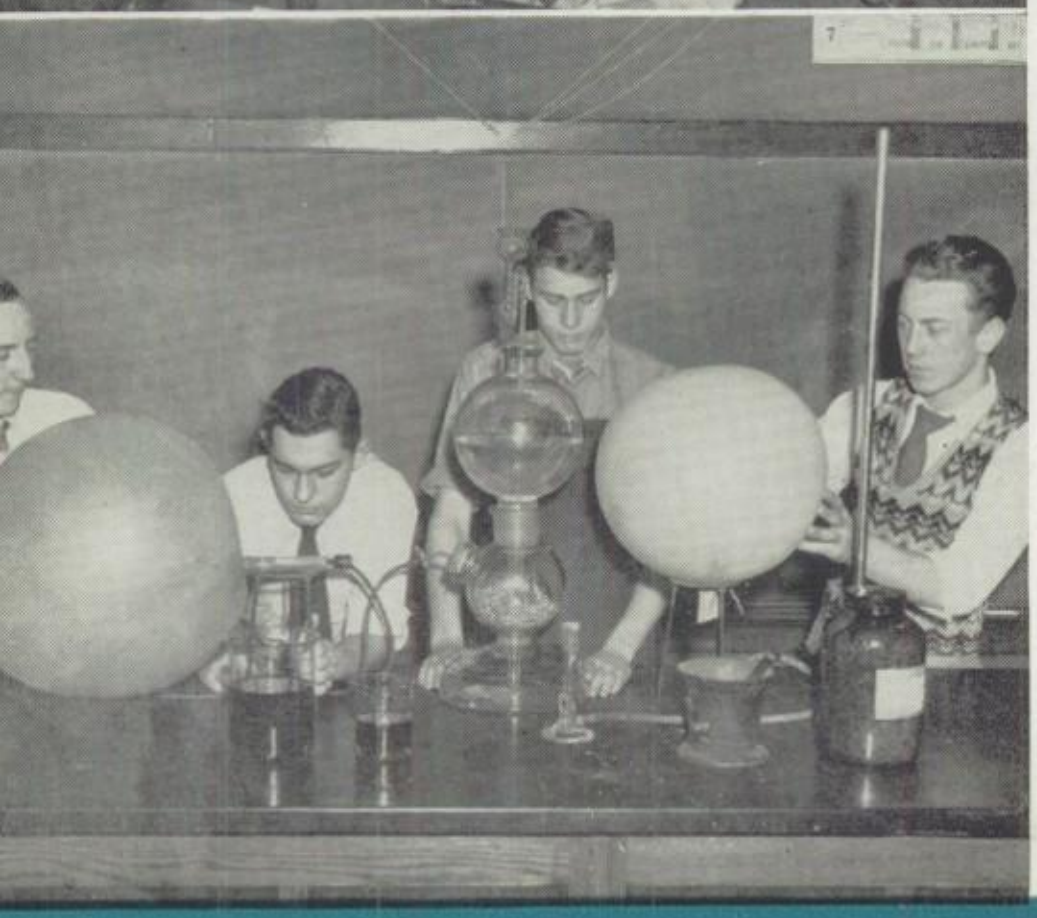
Branches Of The Tree Of Knowledge

During the long hours of each school day, students at Purcell master courses and develop skills in subjects that will prepare them to answer successfully life's problems. Spicing the required subjects with others, more to their liking, Cavaliers know the four years spent at the Hackberry Street mansion will recall unforgettable memories of hard work and plenty of innocent fun.

Rookie typists concentrate on an exercise amid the staccato of the keys and music of the bells.

Chem Lab meteorologists study methods of filling hydrogen balloons in preparation for experiments in weather forecast.





Beckon The Cavaliers To Hard Work

Passersby stop in silent curiosity to admire Bob Woerner's vivid interpretation of Hackberry trees in autumn.

A group of four-year men compare notes and stories of doubtful veracity while relaxing in the front of our Kavalier Kastle after lunch.

Ah! To Live In The Mottled Sunlight

The leaves are turning brown and the autumn of another school year is at hand. The mighty tree that bore this fruitful foliage stands serene, as it has stood many autumns past. Though twenty years have elapsed since the first growth of leaves quietly fell from its branches, the Purcell Hackberry will continue to make Christian gentlemen — scholars.

With the completion of another year, our Principal, Father George Barrett, has proved himself a worthy leader and counselor. Under his administration the Hackberry Street school has grown to full maturity. The faculty and student body wish to express their appreciation for everything Father George has accomplished during his first two years as principal. May he have many more seasons with his Cavaliers.

Our Reverend Principal—Our Guide

Respect This Man Of Authority

As a tree's well-being depends upon the proper functioning of each part, so too, the commonweal of a school is fostered by the individuals that comprise it. For upon the efforts and mutual cooperation of everyone depend the achievements within a school year. Purcell has solved this human equation of working together to the satisfaction of all. The following pages, a record of the past scholastic year, pay adequate tribute to our principal and his assistants — our teachers — and we, the students.

Senior Student Welfare Society discuss with Father Barrett the possibilities for a holiday in honor of "Be Kind To Teachers Week."

Our Secretaries

Miss Mary Kennedy

Miss Mary Catharine Ryan

Pleasant, efficient, indispensable, barely describe the characteristics possessed by the feminine touch of Cavalier Castle, our very capable secretaries, Mlles. Mary Kennedy and Mary Catherine Ryan.

Most of us, at one time or another, had the real pleasure of contacting Miss Kennedy and receiving her warm smile and friendly assistance. Ever-ready and always willing to be helpful, she has become a part of Purcell itself.

Though just completing her "freshman" year, Miss Ryan already holds an "honor-roll" rating with the students and the faculty. May she have many more years of continued success under the banner of the Crimson and Gold.

Before commencing a hard day's work, Miss Kennedy and Miss Ryan graciously smile for Cavalier photographer.

Lovely Mary Kennedy and friends followed Hackberry scholars to Xavier stadium in quest of gridiron victories.

As a "ham" radio man, Bro. Lawrence occupies his few leisure moments operating and improving his rig. By combining television with his set, he hopes to become more efficient on truant cases.

Miss Ryan and Miss Kennedy find Welfare party amusing.

Our Vice-Principal

Bro. Lawrence Eveslage, S.M.

DEDICATED to a life of dawn-to-dusk school activities, Bro. Lawrence Eveslage nevertheless pursues his tasks with vigor. In the morning he has the absentees and tardies to contend with, and through the day there are the attendance slips. Moreover, he teaches four periods of math and physics. In the afternoon he takes his place as detention magistrate; and with the assistance of Bro. Victor Brown, he maintains the elaborate conduct system in vogue at Purcell. These are only a few of his duties as Vice-Principal of the largest boys' high school in the city, second only to one in the state. Because of Bro. Lawrence's interest in every boy, he has gained the respect of the student body.

Efficiency! The Cavalier Key-word

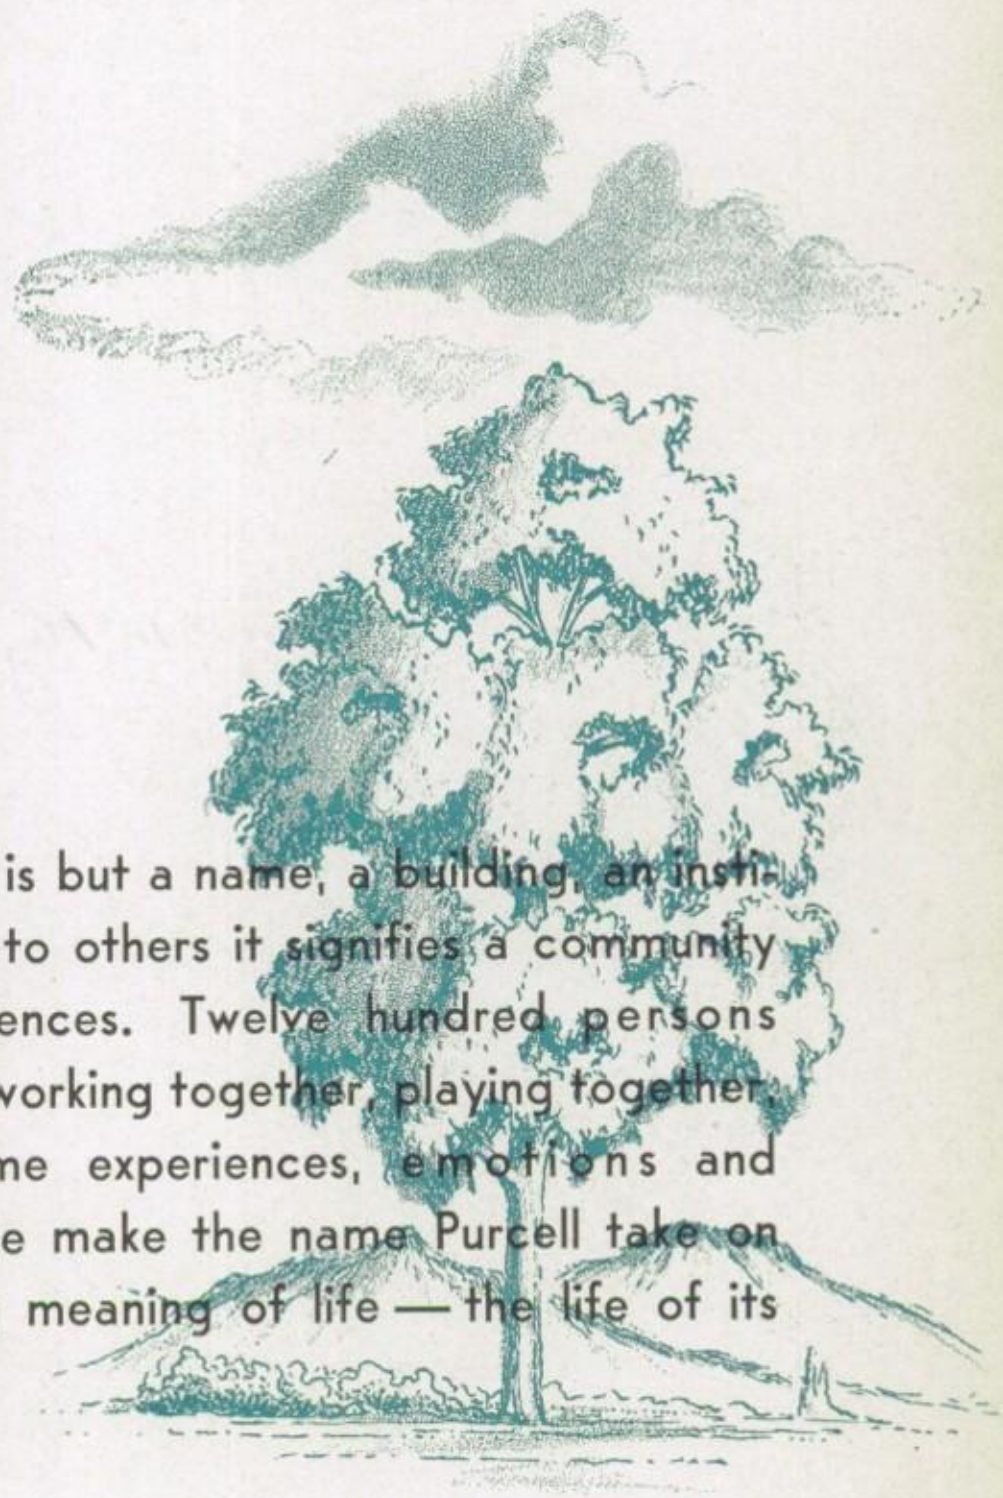
People



To some Purcell is but a name, a building, an institution, however to others it signifies a community of living experiences. Twelve hundred persons living together, working together, playing together, sharing the same experiences, emotions and thoughts — these make the name Purcell take on new meaning, a meaning of life — the life of its PEOPLE.

This Faculty Educates And Inspires

Variety! That has been the prevailing keynote of the activities at Purcell this year. A variety of activities that appeal to every kind of student at Purcell, whether he be the scholastic or the athletic type. As most of us used to think of school as a monotonous drudgery of dull, uninteresting work, our minds were quickly changed when we came to Purcell as Freshmen, for there we found many activities which took our minds off the arduous tasks of school and showed us the better side of it.

Judging by the smiles, Bro. Keimig must be lecturing on something besides economics to the members of his class.

You have their attention, Brother, but please, your finger! You know it's not polite to point.

The dramatic reading of "Kit Carson's Ride" by Bro. Moore creates vivid pictures in the minds of his students.

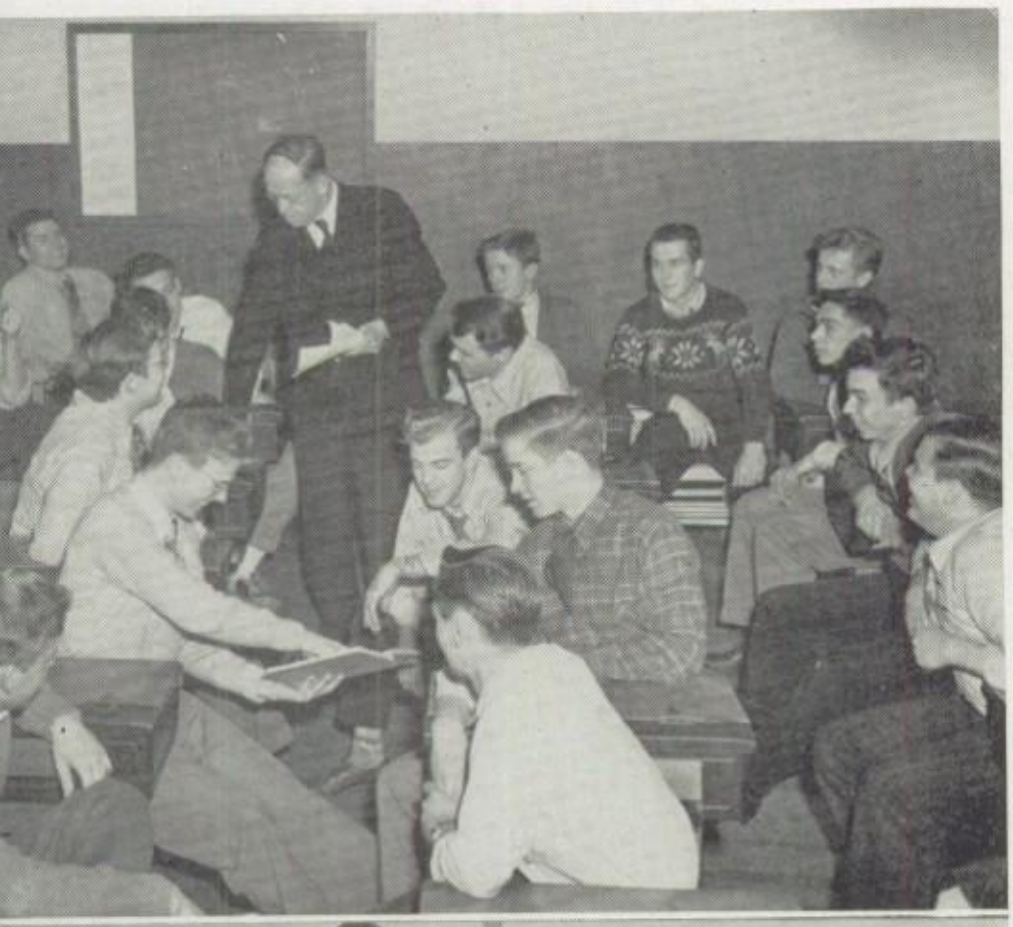
Coach Jim McCarthy signs library permits granting study-hall scholars' request for picture lore in Bro. Deibel's fairyland.

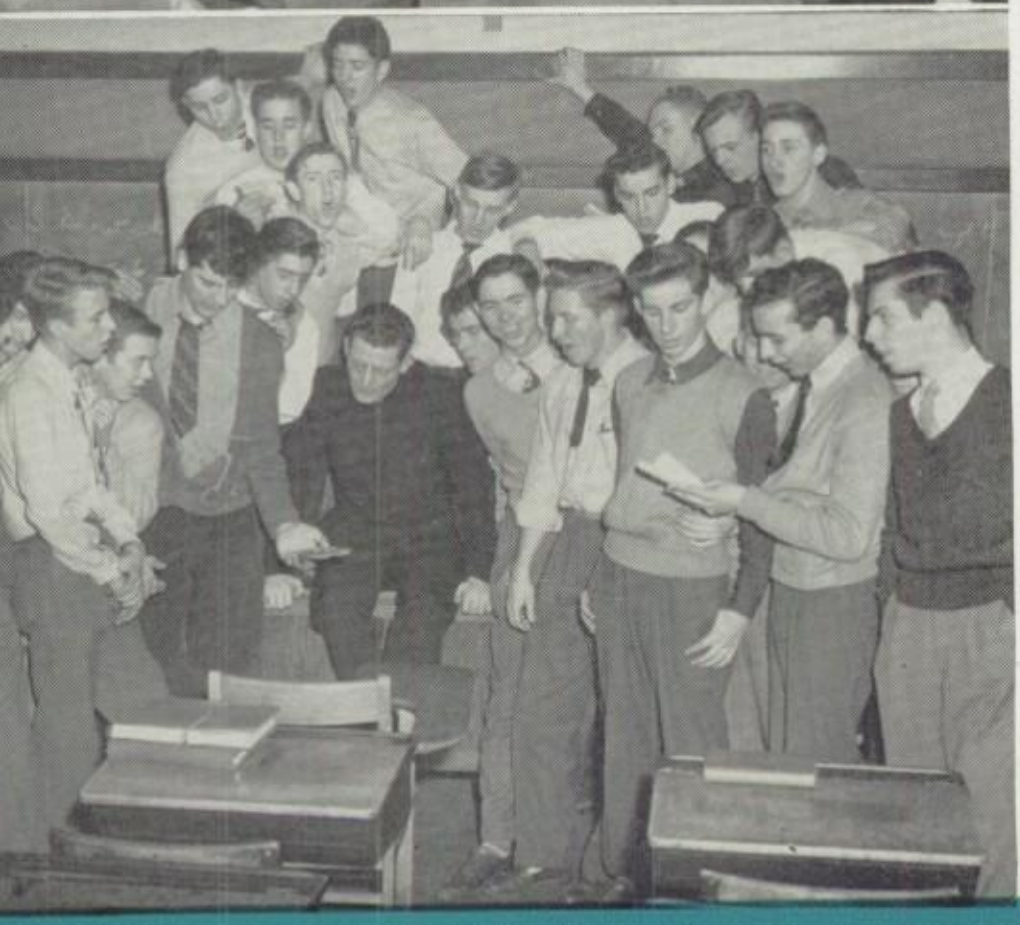
For serious work there are the scholastic activities of the various clubs and organizations, which add greatly to the school's honor and reputation. Also on the serious side of school is the annual retreat, which is looked forward to with much anticipation by all the students as an opportunity of gaining greater knowledge of the spiritual life and a greater love of Christ.

In contrast to this serious side is the lighter aspect of sports, to which every student invariably turns, if not for participation, at least for attendance, as a diversion from his more serious and important work. The band is another organization which attracts the attention of many students at Purcell.

But in all the activities, whether it be sports or scholastic endeavor, the student of Purcell has always tried his best to attain success, and withal to remember that Christ is his model and guide throughout his years at Purcell.

Something studied, something gay in their math class every day. Bro. O'Brien's class has all the appearance of being a step ahead of progressive education.





Songs from the heart bring smiles to the faces, as Fr. Hungling's English class takes time out from studies.

Seniors

On graduation day 240 Seniors will march up to the stage to receive their diplomas. Their high school days are over, forever. How did all this start? Four long years ago the largest class in school history entered Purcell's shining halls. Bewildered and slightly afraid of their future in this strange school, they weathered this winter of their high school career and blossomed into the spring of their sophomore year, excellent scholars. During this time they were picking up useful knowledge for their future life.

In sports they more than held their own as they moved into the summer of their high school days by defending the then-unbroken victory streak in football. They learned to take it with a smile, however, in less frequent wins in other sports.

Taking an active interest in clubs and in studies, for many had become fixed in their life aims, they finally moved into the homestretch, the fall of their high-school days. The drive for knowledge was made evident by the large numbers of seniors on the Honor Roll.

Seriously making their retreat, for it could be their last, and cramming for examinations, for they could not afford to fail now, they finally came to the end of their high school career, equipped with wisdom which took years to master. Their diploma is more than a pretty piece of parchment, it represents toil, sweat, successes and failures in the four most important years of life. To our teachers we say, "Thank you!"

Senior Class Officers: T. McCoy, Treasurer; K. Haas, Vice-President; H. Ruether, President; H. Haines, Secretary.

Senior Class Officers—Active, Trustworthy

With their final year at Purcell in mind, the Seniors chose four outstanding men to pilot their activities. These boys have accomplished much for the school through their leadership in the Student Council as well as their interest displayed in backing drives and sponsoring assemblies. The officers cooperated with the faculty and students to make the past school year full of pleasant memories, and merit for themselves the distinction of being outstanding among class officers in the history of Purcell.

Juniors

WITH three quarters of their high-school years behind them, the class of '49 have conquered the fearful scholastic hurdles confronting every progressive Cavalier. They have braved the "-ology," the "-ics" and even the important "-ion." Neatness, manners, "do's" and "don'ts" which plague fainter spirits have been the rule day by day. Despite all this, some Juniors have found time to contribute time and talent in out-of-class activities. The brains in the division have furthered the endeavors of the school's honor clubs, while the brawn has spread the Cavalier fame in sports. Others with time and enthusiasm have helped out, in just any way, to show that they possess the great Cavalier spirit.

Sophomores

GRADUATION, with its satisfactions, honors and distinctions, is shared by two classes at Purcell. The quiet, unnoticed one celebrated by our Sophomore class brings them to the dividing line of their high school career where they proudly claim the title "Upperclassmen." During the past two years of careful groundwork, they have prepared themselves to become true leaders of Purcell.

Under the guidance of our principal, Father Barrett, who is, incidentally, a second-year man himself, these Cavaliers now eagerly look forward to greater achievements in their final years on Hackberry Street.

In reviewing their enviable record, we find that they have "set the pace" in many activities around school, with an impressive number of representatives on the Honor Roll and several stars on the gridiron and basketball floor. Among these athletes, the names of Bolger, Martin, Hall, and Muldoon look especially impressive. To continue with this record would make a complete success of their high school career.

Freshmen

To look at this seasoned group of boys, veterans of one year of high school, you wouldn't dream that this is the same group that toddled through the Hackberry Hall's only nine months before on a warm September morning. However, as the leaves of fall blew away and winter winds succeeded, this green group ripened into mature high school boys. No longer did an irate student arrive late for class with the gripe, "My locker wouldn't open." They became well-acquainted with the little pad of jug slips in the teacher's pocket. In algebra they learned that "X" did not always mean Xavier University. Fingernails were shortened on scientific problems. Through it all, a sizable list of scholars looked proudly at their names on the Roll of Honor.

The athletic department welcomed some very promising candidates and the sports horizon brightened with good teams in all divisions. In general a typical Purcell class has started on the road to graduation.

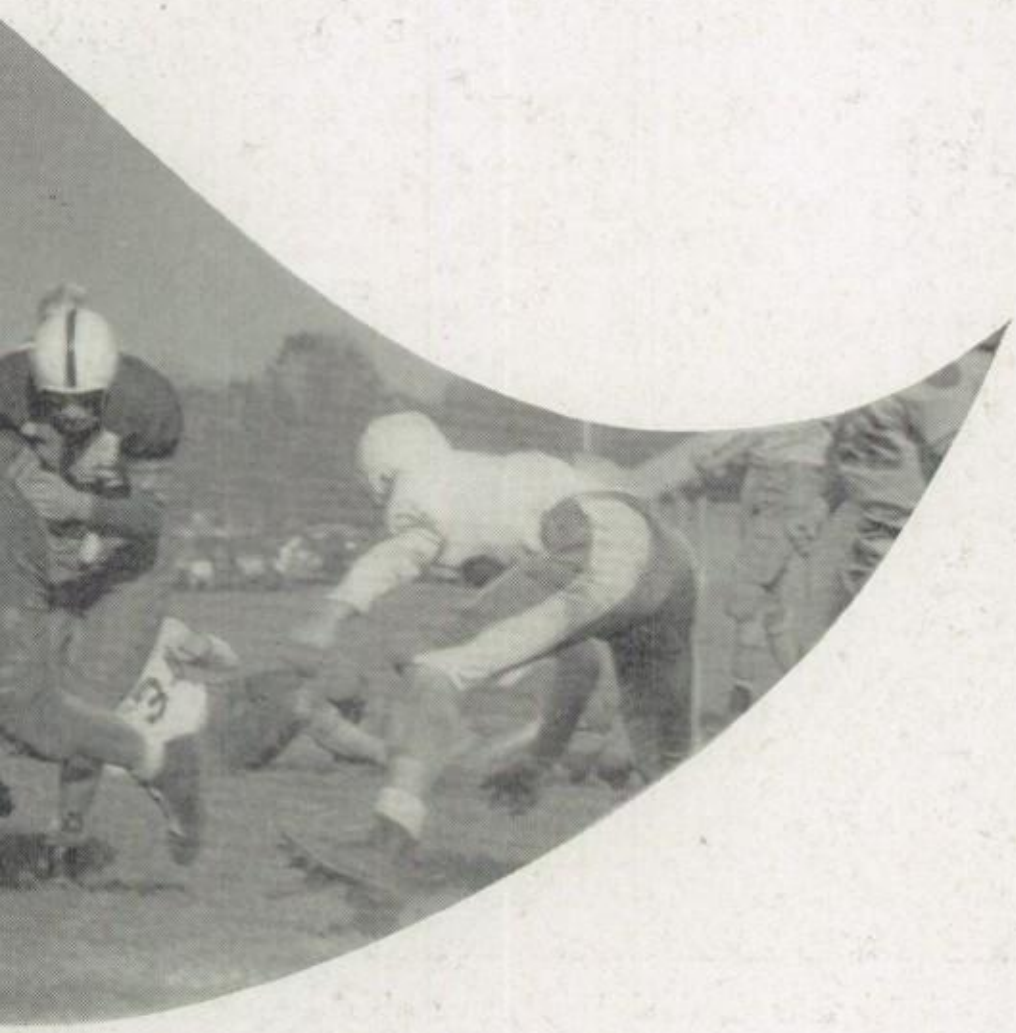
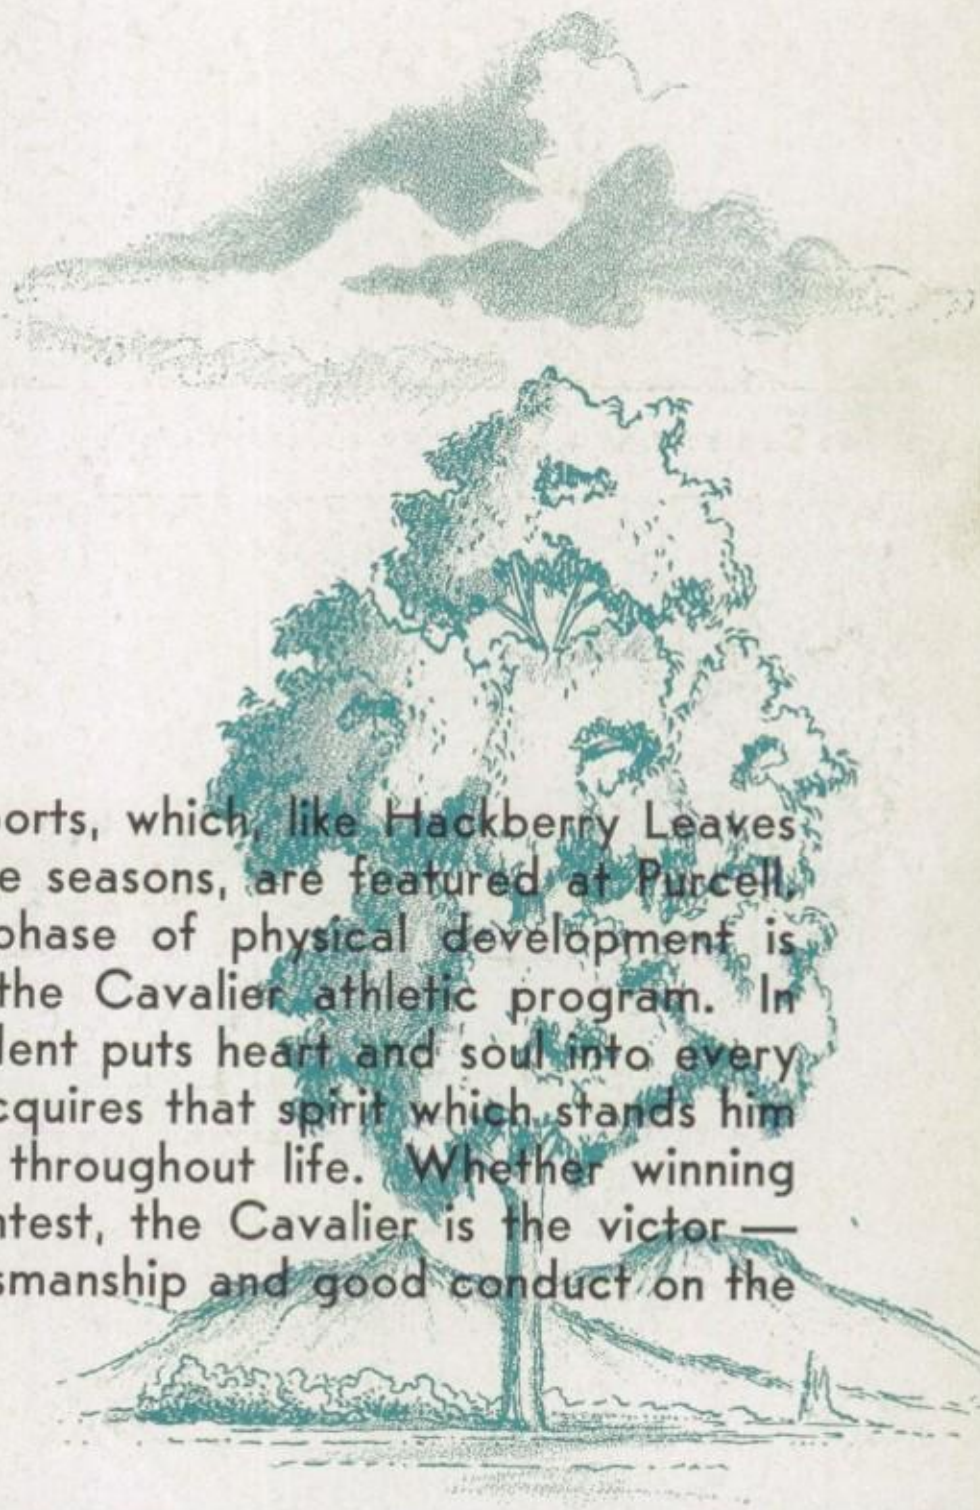
Athletics





Year-around sports, which, like Hackberry Leaves change with the seasons, are featured at Purcell. Not a single phase of physical development is overlooked in the Cavalier athletic program. In return, the student puts heart and soul into every attempt and acquires that spirit which stands him in good stead throughout life. Whether winning or losing a contest, the Cavalier is the victor — he learns sportsmanship and good conduct on the field of life.

Triple-tie Champs Sport A New Backfield And Veteran Line

THE Cavalier Gridders in 1947 lengthened their three-year skein of undefeated contests to 33 before succumbing to a stubborn Western Hills eleven, 13-14. Two more defeats were suffered, but Coach Jim McCarthy, serving his first year at Purcell, rallied his forces to triumph over six foes and earn a co-championship in the G.C.C.L.

Many Cavalier touchdowns were scored via the air route with Bill Adkins, an agile T-formation quarterback, heaving the leather. Flanking Bill in the backfield were halves Bill Coad and Paul Gates, with alternates Bolger, Hebbeler and Martin. Gene Jochem was Purcell's "bulldozer" at the fullback spot.

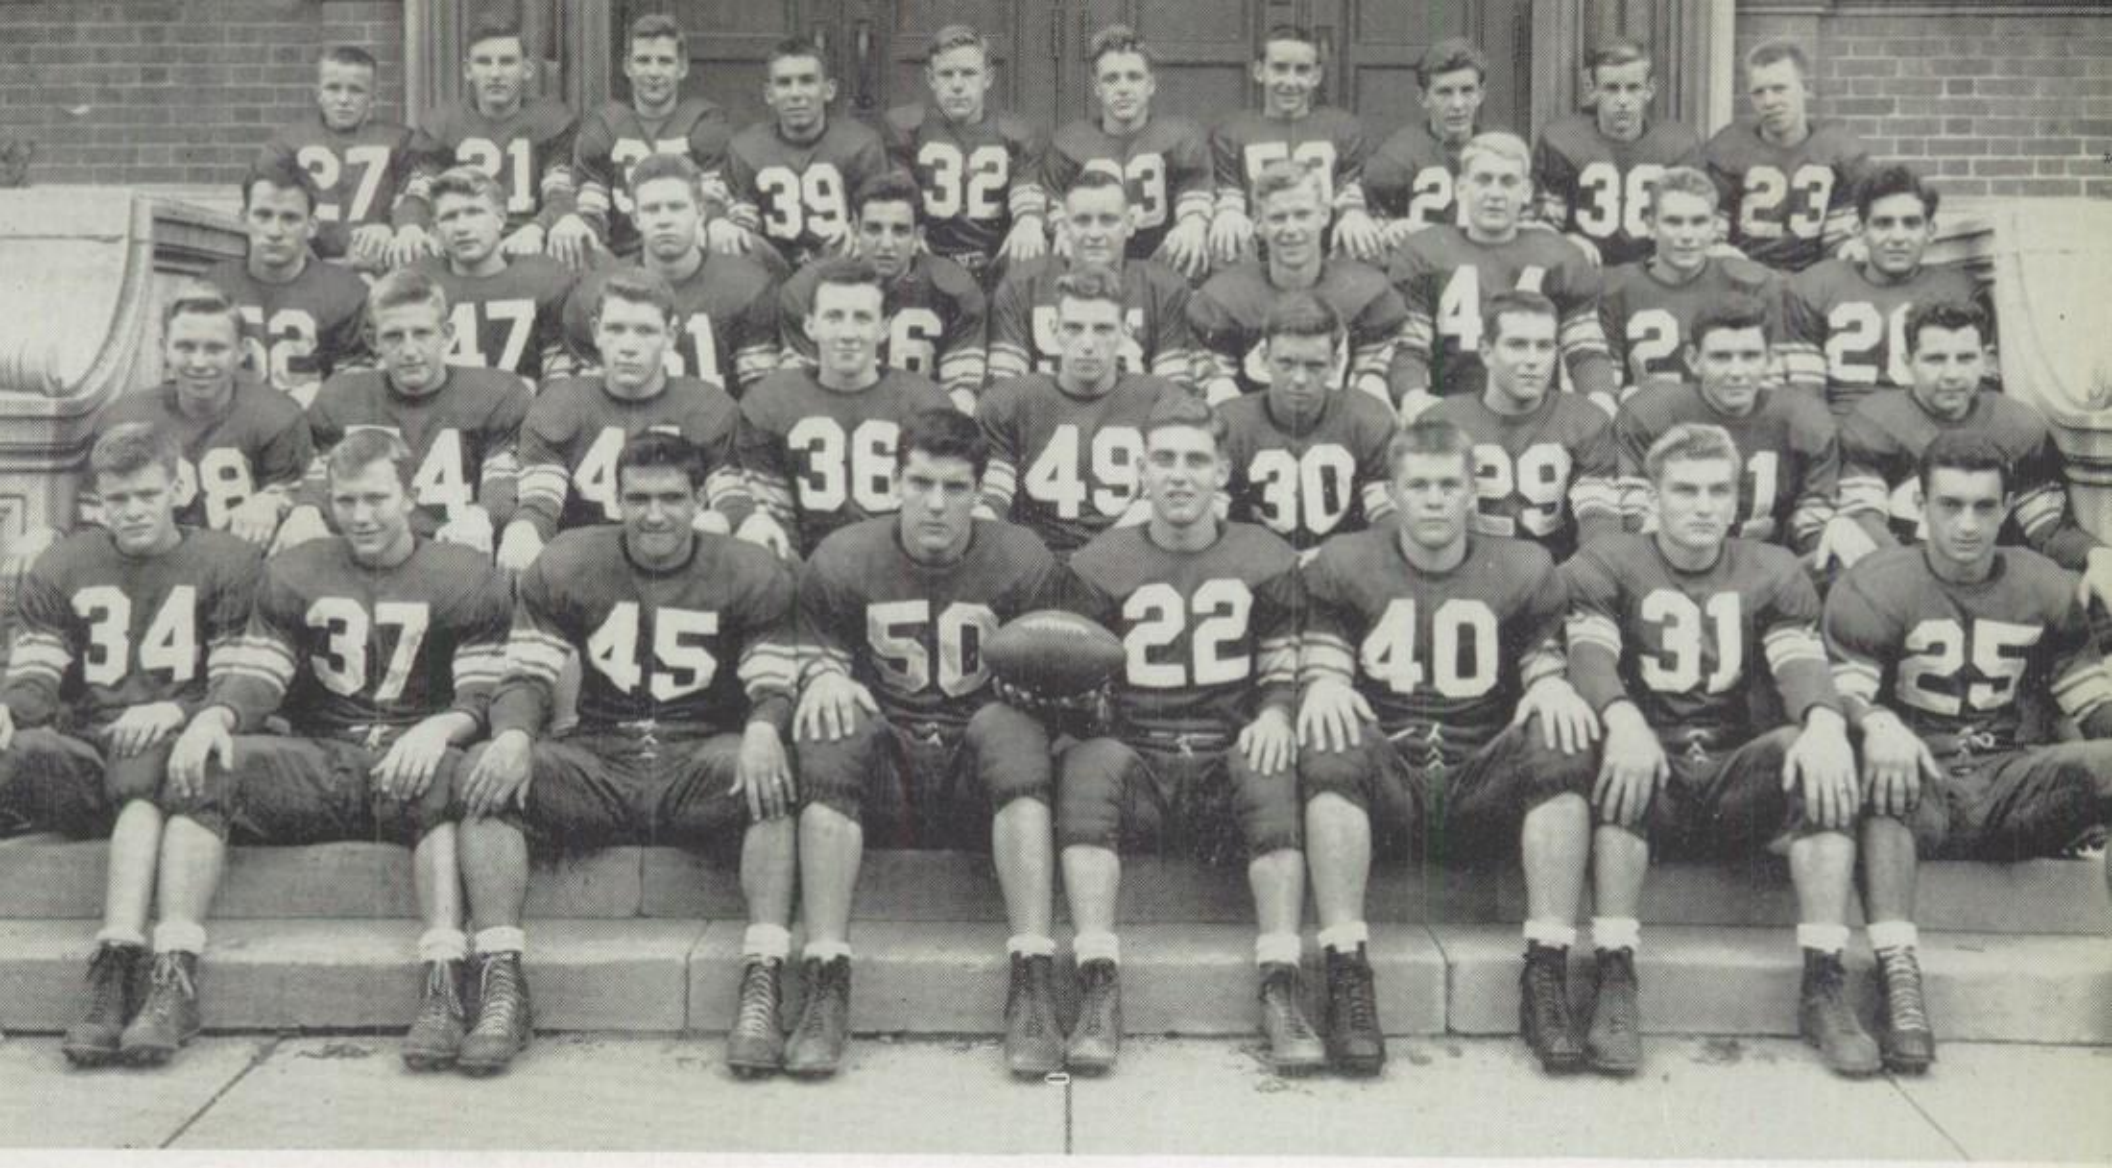
Standouts on the staunch Crimson forward wall were tackles Virg Scardina and Dick Seifart. In addition to his line chores, Dick attempted the conversion after each six-pointer. Jack Hoffman and Dick Heller were rabid ball-hawks at end. The middle of the Cavalier line was impassible with Vinny DeSalvo and Al Kramer at the guard spots. Ed Hart and Charley Smith performed capably as reserve linemen.

Those seniors who saw final action for the Crimson and Gold are Bill Adkins, Bill Coad, Paul Gates, Ron Brill, Jack Hoffman, Dick Seifart, Dick Heller, Jim Schlueter, Virg Scardina, Ed Hart, Vinny DeSalvo, Al Kramer, and Jim Riedy.

Don "Juan" Hebbeler, wards off a would-be tackler and registers another first down.

"Tiny" Hoffman leaves everyone behind as he pivots and heads for the "promised land."

The Cavaliers take the lead as trainer George Kleinschmidt and the managers take a breather.



First Row: P. Gates, A. Kramer, V. Scardina, J. Hoffman, W. Adkins, R. Siefart, R. Heller, B. DeSalvo. Second Row: W. Niehaus, J. Schlueter, E. Hart, J. Riedy, F. Klosterman, R. Brill, W. Coad, J. McPhillips, J. DeGaro. Third Row: C. Smith, R. Kolkmeyer, R. Jung, E. Abbatiello, J. Leisring, S. Biedenharn, D. Dawdy, R. Krueger, L. Palumbo. Fourth Row: J. Franz, D. Daly, T. Doerger, D. Hebbeler, J. Bolge, G. Jochem, J. Crowley, D. Herzog, D. Gardner, J. Healey.

Much of the success of the Purcell pigskinners was due to trainer George Kleinschmidt and student managers Sharpie King, Bill Klosterman, Nick Cherney and Johnny Neumeier.

Coaches Jack McAndrew and Jim McCarthy look for a loophole in the enemy's defense.

Scorecard Review

19 — Newport Catholic 0

By walloping Newport Catholic 19-0, the Cavaliers snatched their initial victory of the "47" season. Bolger and Hebbeler sparkled as they racked up a T.D. apiece.

12 — Dixie Heights 6

On a hot sultry afternoon the Gridders sweated out a 12-6 win over a stubborn Dixie Heights eleven. A pay-dirt aerial from Adkins to Hoffman was the first-period feature. The Colonels tallied next but a second Adkins-to-Hoffman six-pointer iced the game for the Crimson and Gold.

20 — Hughes 0

In the nightcap of an interleague doubleheader Purcell whipped the under-manned Hughes squad 20-0. QB Bill Adkins heaved the pigskin all over the lot, with ends Jack Hoffman and Dick Heller being the principal receivers. "Gallopin'" Paul Gates was the spear-head of the Cavaliers' ground attack.

13 — Western Hills 14

By permitting the Western Hills Maroons a pair of last-ditch touchdowns the Crimsons dropped a thriller, 13-14, thus terminating their 33-game undefeated skein. Purcell's Soph star, "Dutch" Bolger, lugged the leather for considerable gains, being the Maroon's chief headache.

21 — Withrow 0

Smooth team-play was the major factor in the gridders' 21-0 conquest of the clawless Withrow Tigers. The Cavalier forward wall opened up gaping holes in the Tiger's line, enabling Coad and Gates to pile up considerable yardage. The spoils of the contest, the Ward Trophy, remains in Purcell's possession.

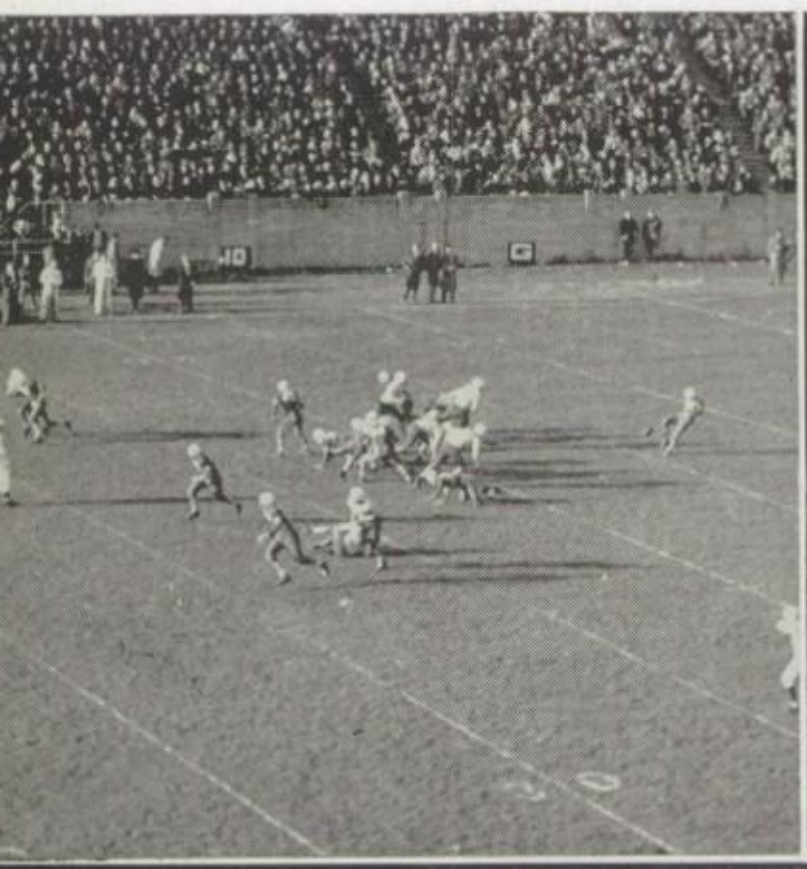
Cavaliers Hoffman, Seifart and Heller charge downfield as Adkins punts out of danger.

The mail must go through and Paul "Pony Express" Gates upholds the tradition.

After outsmarting the opposition, Heller races into the clear and awaits the pigskin's descent.

Skirting the end, Gates picks up that precious extra yard for a first down.

The enemy is repulsed by McPhillips, Hoffman, and Scardina as Bill Coad sneaks by.



14 — Hamilton Catholic 21

The once-conquered Cavaliers tangled with the Hamilton Catholic Rams and emerged from the fray on the disappointing end of a 21-14 count. First blood was drawn by McCarthy's men as Paul Gates took Adkins' handoff and crashed over the "no-yard" line. In the closing seconds of the game, Bill Coad scampered around right end for Purcell's second T.D.

7 — Roger Bacon 19

The Crimsontide received its worst walloping of the season at the hands of Roger Bacon's Spartans, being tripped 19-7. But the Cavaliers played a "never-say-die" game and were still swinging at the bell. The line-play of Ed Hart was outstanding. It was his recovery of a Bacon fumble that led to Gene Jochem's scoring from the 3-yard line.

19 — Elder 6

By trouncing Elder 19-6 the Crimson-clads jumped back into the victory column. The Crimson and Gold gridders completely outplayed the Panthers in a game featured by its cleanness. The duet of second-year halfbacks, Dutch Bolger and Jack Martin, provided their supporters with a first-class gridiron show. This pair and Tiny Hoffman were responsible for Purcell's three T.D.'s.

14 — Xavier 7

The Cavalier gridders bowed out the "47" football scene by trimming the St. Xavier Bombers, 14-7. By finishing with a 2-won and 1-lost G.C.C.L. record, the Cavaliers helped themselves to a portion of the League championship. The game was a survival-of-the-fittest affair from the opening whistle to the final buzzer. Purcell's one-two lightning punch of Coad and Martin were X's downfall.

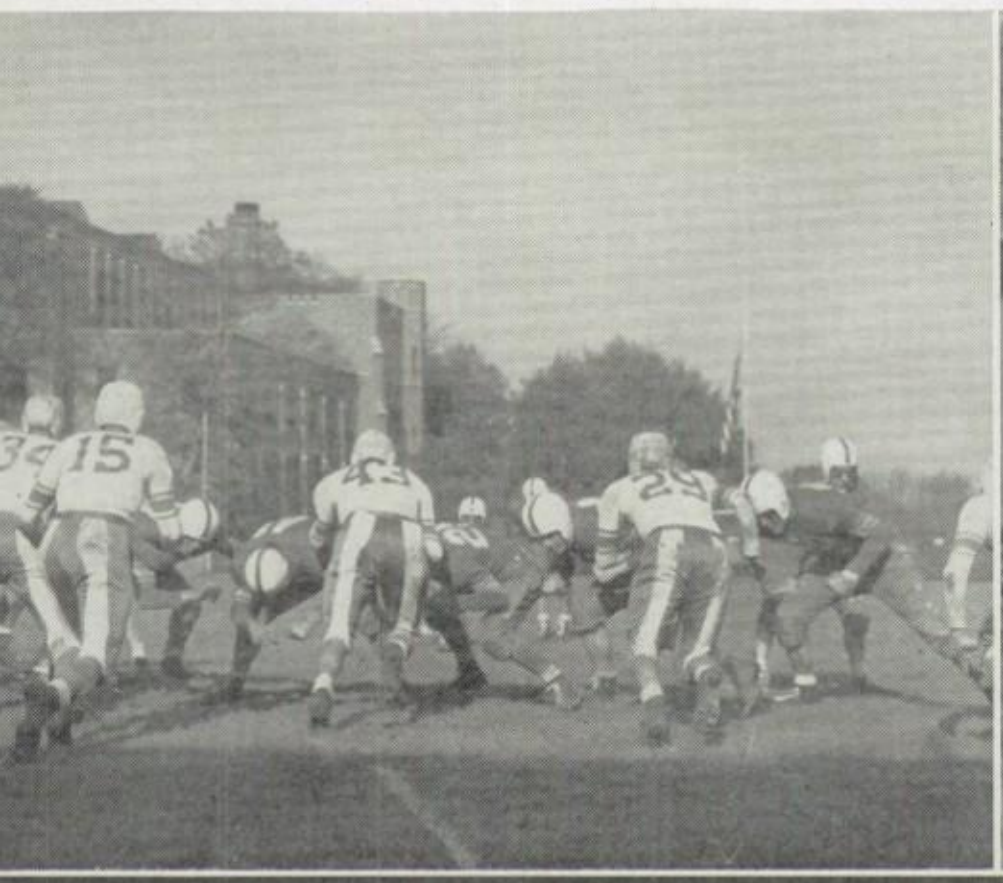
Behind an unyielding bulwark, Dick Seifart pauses before booting the extra point.

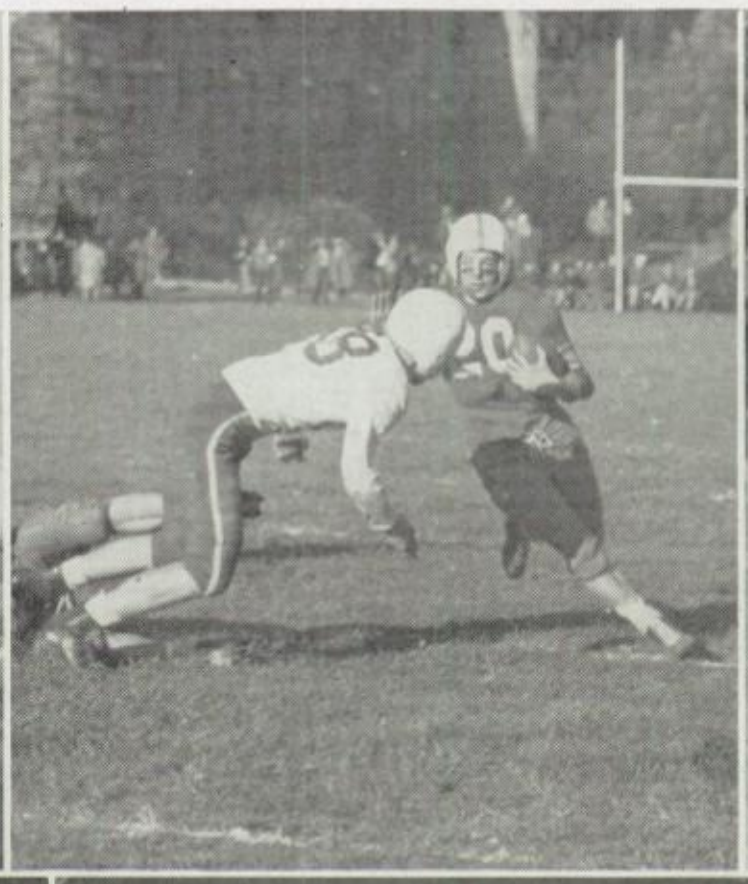
Racing over the turf, elusive Jack Martin cuts and straight-arms an oncoming tackler.

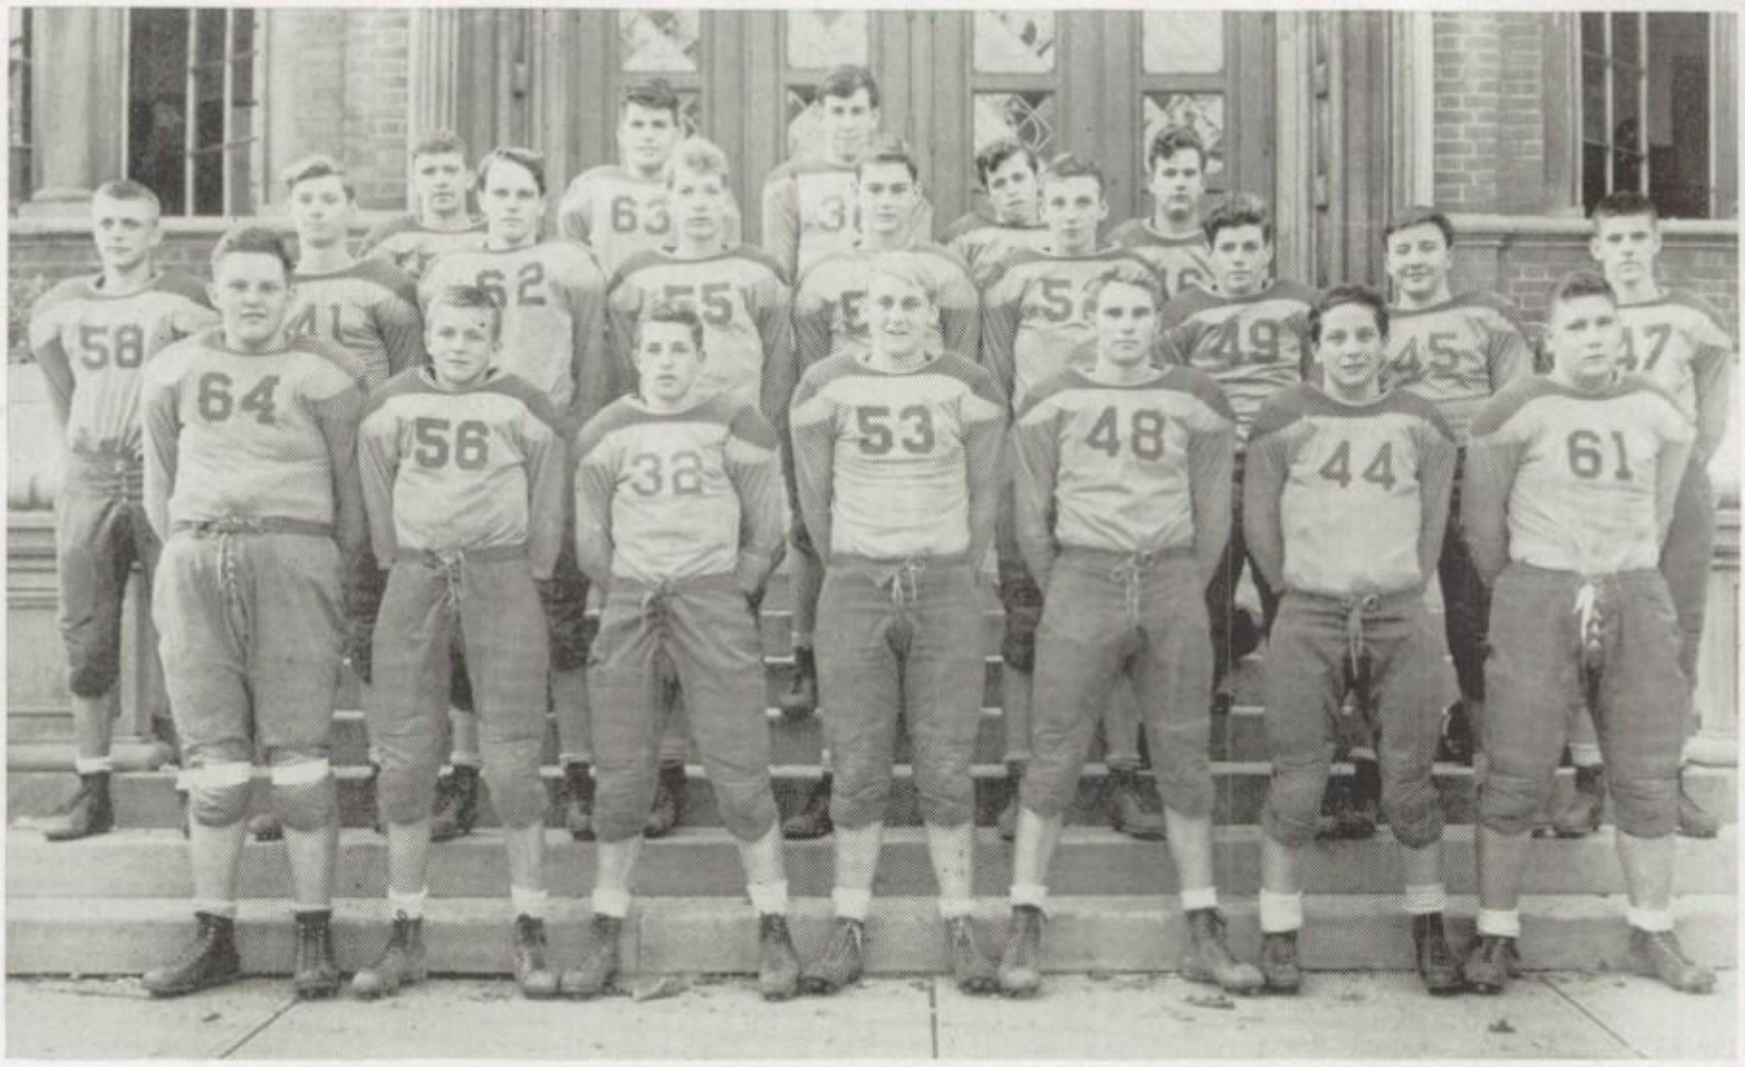
"Billy-goat" Coad checks his bearings and sprints up the sidelines to greener pastures.

Taking a handoff from Adkins, "Shockem' Jochem bucks the middle of Elder's line.

Completely befuddling their opponents, the Cavalier grid machine shakes slippery Jack Martin into the clear.







Reserves

Freshmen

ALTHOUGH the frosh gridders won only two contests and were vanquished five times, they managed to grab a share of the G.C.L. title as a result of this pair of victories. Coach John Brown, a Senior, whipped his charges into shape like a veteran mentor.

Bill Graham showed the most class as quarterback, where his aerials, to ends Joe MacVeigh and Ronnie Beagle, were a feared offensive weapon. The halfback positions were capably filled by Ed Devoto and Bob Molloy. When a first down was wanted, fullback Bill Leonard produced.

James Duffy and Walt Clemens, tackles, bolstered the Crimson forward wall. At Guard Don Mayhall and Roger Towle were immovable mountains. Emil Werner was pivot-man and line backer.

DISPLAYING true Cavalier sportsmanship and gridiron wizardry, Purcell's Reserves convinced all opponents of their supremacy by amassing five victories and a pair of scoreless ties. Under the capable coaching of Jack Hunt the Sophs, by virtue of a trio of their wins, finished undisputed champs of the Greater Cincinnati Catholic League. The Cavaliers racked up 64 points while permitting their foes only two touchdowns.

The Crimson line, a solid wall on defense, a charging juggernaut on offense, was built around Dawdy. But on the whole, it was teamwork that opened gaping holes in the opposite line, through which the Reserves tallied a greater part of their T.D.'s. In the backfield for Purcell were a quartet of pile-driving gridders. At quarterback was Roger Franz, whose team-leadership was a valuable asset. His accurate aerials were gathered in by ends Hall and Huesman. A pair of classy pigskin toters were halfbacks Passalacqua and Krueger. Dick Kiley worked from the fullback spot.

Tip-offs Thrill Fans As Hoopsters

THE Cavalcagers who wore the Crimson and Gold colors in '48 were again a fast, high-scoring quintet. In rolling up a 16 won — 7 lost record, they accumulated 1069 points. Only on four occasions did they tally less than 40 digits. Three victories and a like number of defeats in G.C.C.L. competition earned for the hoopsters a second-place tie in the league standings.

The most consistent point producer of the '48 five was Jack Hoffman. From his pivot position "Tiny," who stands 6'5", tossed 291 points through the net, a 13-per-game average. This total erased the old school mark set by Art Morthorst in 1943. The title "Best All-Around Cager" could be bestowed on Senior forward Don Gruber. Don's defensive work puzzled many foes, while his "snowy" shots, which accounted for 233 points, amazed all. Frank Hall, Senior guard, was one of the better ball hawks on the squad, as well as aggregator of 101 digits. Unlike Hoffman, Frank's points were scored in opportune spurts. Another Senior, Lou Seta, occupied the second forward spot. His favorite part of the court was the foul circle, from where he was deadly accurate. The only junior among the first five was Jim Cucinotta, a colorful, dashing guard. Ball-handling came naturally to Jim, who set up many scoring opportunities with his true-to-the-target passing. Not to be outdone, Jim rang up 102 markers himself.

Break Seven School Scoring Records

Last-minute instructions are given to Purcell's starting five by Coach McAndrews before taking on Elder at X's Field-house.

Tense! Exciting! Spectacular! The boys on the bench give way to their emotions as someone on the floor gives way to the basket.

Tip-ins, Fast Breaks, Dazzling Set-shots

Joe Degaro manages to slip through X's zone; searching for the elusive bucket he prepares to ring up a two-pointer.

"Bashful" Frank Hall hides his face as he goes off his feet to grab a rebound, while Don Gruber tries to get in on the act.

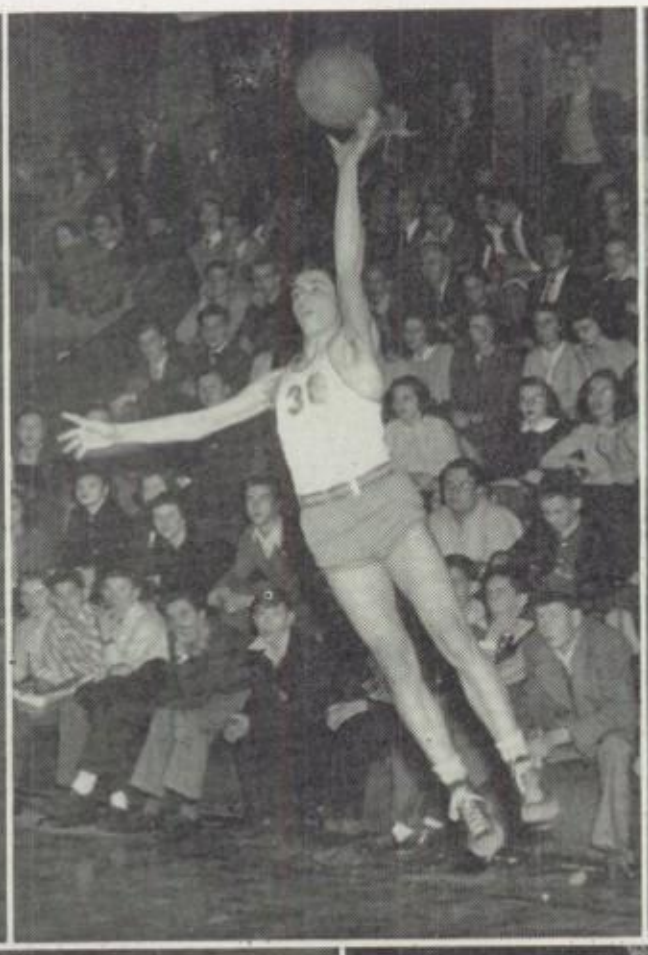
Purcell's "demon dribbler", Jim Cucinotta, attempts to prove that he's also a pretty good shot.

Taking a bounce pass, Joe Degaro cuts toward the basket for a quick bunny.

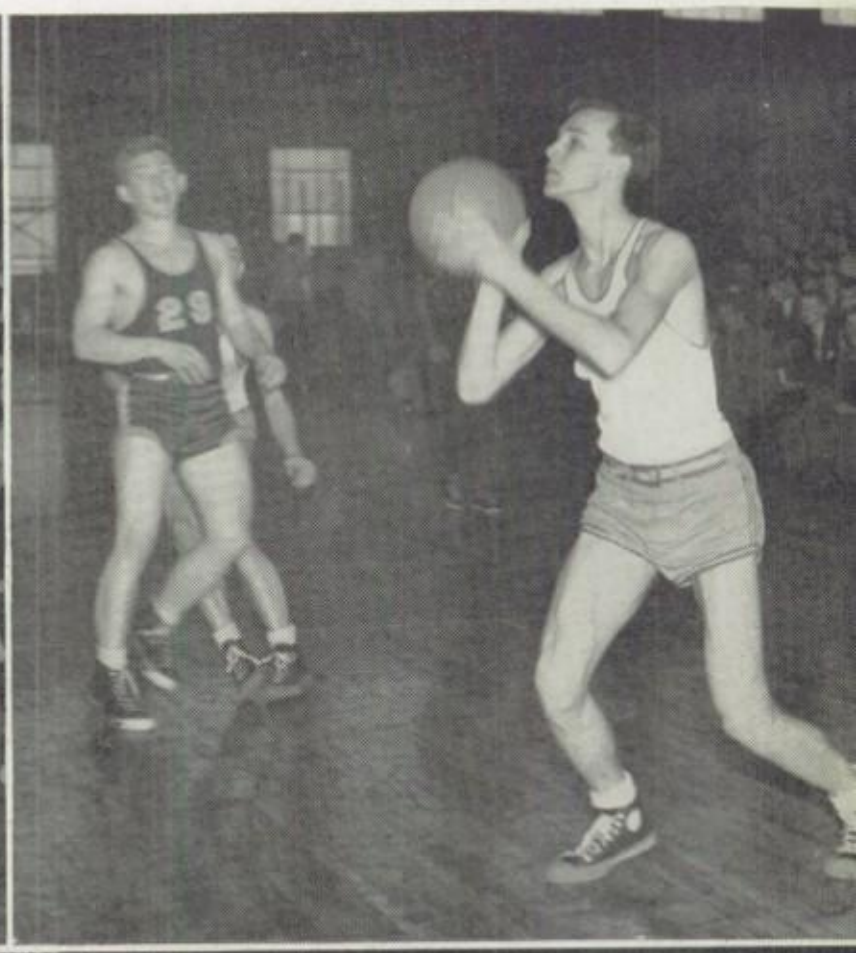
Frank Hall's "jump shot" is deflected by Central's tall timber.

Net A Thousand Thirty-one Points

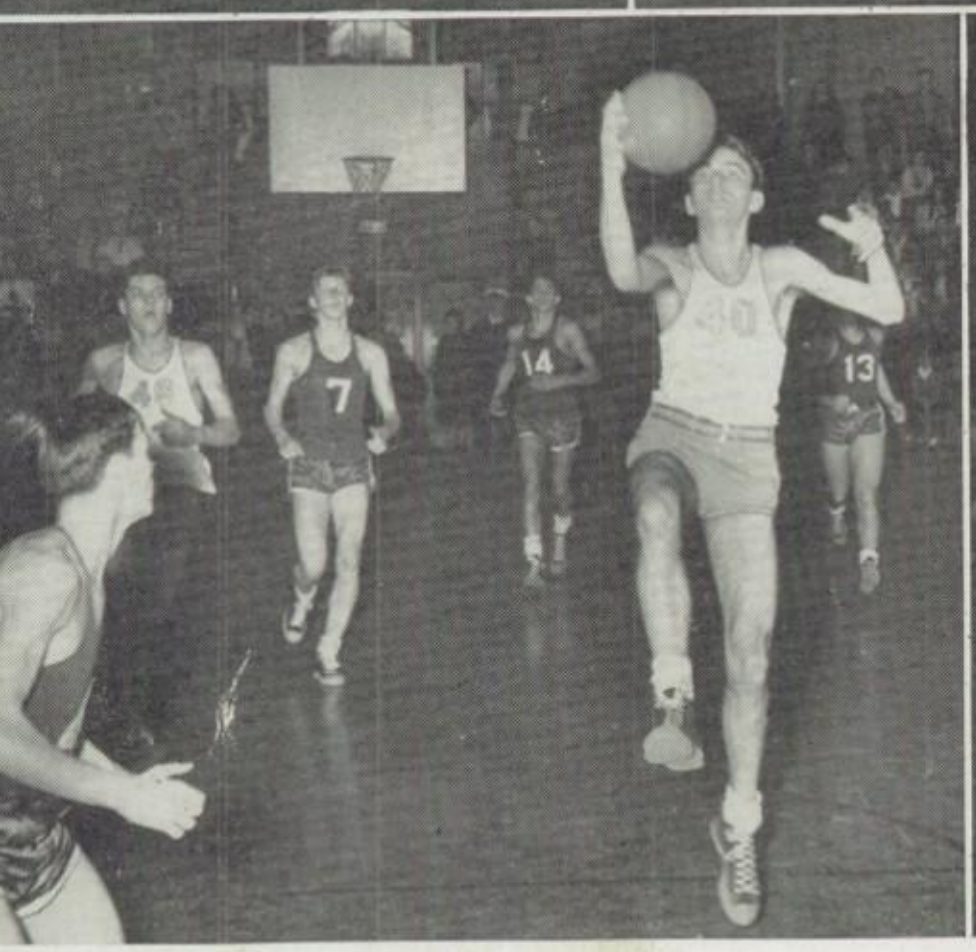
High into the air goes Don Gruber as a Bomber vainly attempts to block his shot.



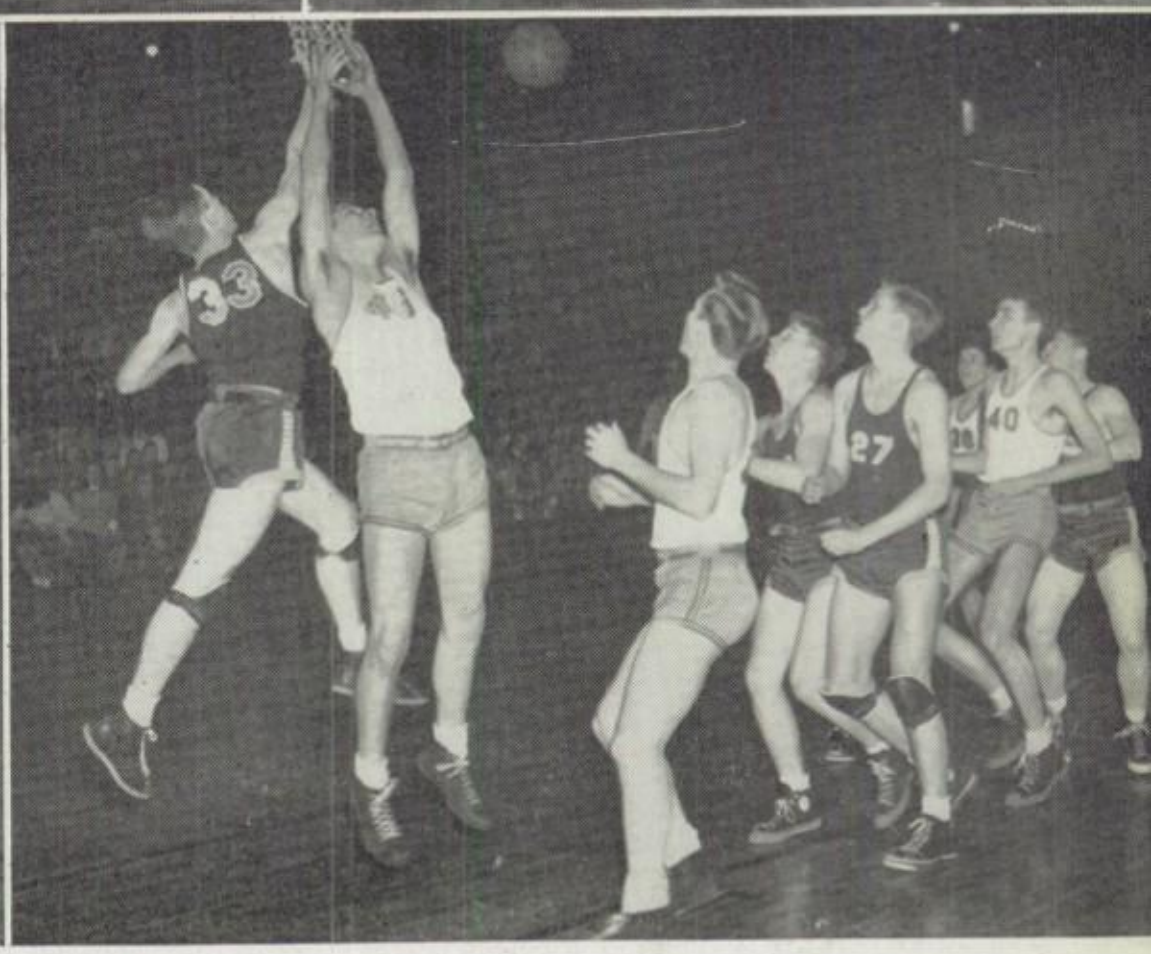
Cucinotta flies through the air as he passes the ball to an expected mate beneath the net.



A fast pass gives Frank Hall enough time for a set shot against Roger Bacon.



Keeping his good eye on the hoop Lou Seta comes in for an easy fielder. Jack Hoffman rushes into cover, just in case.



Everyone seems to be on the spot as Jack Hoffman grabs for the ball that isn't there. But Gruber seems to know where it is.

AN OUTSTANDING entry in Purcell's record books was written by the Cavalier Reserves. The Sophs galloped through a tough schedule and flashed across the finish line with 21 wins as against a single defeat. That victory spirit was instilled into them by their coach, Jim McCarthy, and it stood them in good stead when each game rolled around.

The Reserves worked like a well-oiled machine, but if individuals were to be cited, Jack Westerkamp could not be overlooked. His shots from the court were the feature of each contest. Bill Hall, Purcell's pivot was a smooth performer under the basket and rebounded like a veteran. Forward Bolger hit the hoop from all angles, much to the dismay of Crimson foes. When on defense, guard Bill Anaruma stuck to his man like a barnacle, while Jim Muldoon and Tom Cash could be relied on for a superb showing.

SHOWING promise for valuable reserve material, the frosh basketball squad shot and dribbled at a terrific pace to attain the amazingly good record of 27 wins to one loss.

Their only jinx was Central Vocational in the second game; but consider, they toppled all other 18 teams once or twice each.

By playing clean, hard, excellent basketball, they exhibited their skill and displayed glowing possibilities of developing into top-notch players.

Jack Hunt, froshies' new coach, has compounded a really plausible team, and with him plugging the players on, the Cavaliers will offer all opponents a superior type of ball handling. Their record spells a good omen for the future 1949 Reserve basketball squad. The team tallied up 650 points to the 313 total of the opponents.

THE Cavalier speed merchants took to the cinder paths with the intention of copping the G.C.C.L. trophy for the second consecutive year. Bro. Bill Schroeder, who handles the track squad, inaugurated spring practice with a host of experienced athletes on hand. Don Gardner and Carl Marrocco compete in the dashes. For the middle distances Purcell has Bill Coad and "Duke" Udry.

Bob Sheshull, who captained the cross country team, is a strong candidate in the mile run. The hurdling events may see Dan Hogan and Herb Ryan setting new marks.

Cavalier fans hope to see Dick Heller crack his own record in the pole vault, high jumper Leo Heitker clear new heights, and Angie Cucinotta achieve 20 feet in the broad jump. Purcell relies on Frank Klosterman and John McPhillips for the discus and shot put.

Bat And Mitt Experts Lash Out

WITH a gleam of victory in their eyes, Purcell's batmen eagerly await their first game, maybe optimistically inclined, but nevertheless possessing the material and spirit to assure a highly successful 1948 season.

Coaching, guiding, and plugging the team on is Jack McAndrews, equipping the squad with excellent means of attaining victory.

Slugging, swishing, and swinging their way to the finals last year, being tripped up only by Withrow, the club hopes to reach even further perfection this year.

Bill Adkins will burn up the plate, while Daly, Hoffman and Corken render the infield air tight. Way out in the green somewhere, you'll find Bolger and Doggett ready to snatch any stray balls.

Plus the able assistance of their fellow teammates, the '48 squad looks forward to a high-spirited, victorious baseball season.

Freshman G

THE 1G Basketeers were tops among the frosh homerooms as they toppled six foes and bowed to none. The "G" whizzes were captained by Jim Boeckman, a clever team player. Jim's timely two-pointers pulled many contests out of the fire. "Dead-Eye" Dick Vogele was high scorer for the boys from Mr. McGraw's class, and later moved up to Cavalier Frosh squad. Bill Leonard played tight defensive ball and contributed his share of points.

A GREAT season seems to be in store for the linksmen of Purcell. Stirred by the winning ways of last season's squad, which captured the G.C.C.L. Title and suffered defeat in only one match, the Crimson golfers envision another par-fect year. Fr. William Boyle, coach, realized the return of nine veterans; chief among these lettermen is Bob Foppe. Bob has been toting the Crimson colors around the links for three years, and is looking forward to the completion of a par-busting schedule. Jack Richter, Jim Grady and Harold Gajus should round out the first foursome.

Netmen Build Power

PURCELL'S racquet-teers inaugurated the "48" season with the intention of stealing the G.C.C.L. title from under their opponents' noses. Fortified by the return of a half-dozen lettermen and the addition of an ambitious rookie crop, the tennis squad promised to be stronger than last year's team. Veterans John, Leo and Jerry Weber, Larry Koenig, Bob Beel and Tom Arbino form the backbone of the Cavalier Netters.

The School Tourney which is held each spring determines the position a player holds. But he is forced to keep a tight grip on his spot, as he may be challenged to forfeit it any time.

Intramural Bowling

INTRAMURAL bowling gained favor among Purcell keglers this year. So many responded that it was necessary to organize two leagues, one under the management of Lou Palumbo, the other headed by Virg Scardina.

The Green pin-busters finished on top in the Thursday loop, with Ron Shawhan as Irish anchor man. The Brown and Crimson fives ran second and third respectively.

The best of the Friday groups were the Gold-sters, whose outstanding kegler was Bill Adkins. The Blue boys grabbed second position, while third place fell to the Scarlets.

In a championship match, the Gold team took all three games from the Green.

"Aqua-ducks" Paddle To Second Place

BY STEADY practice under the watchful eye of Fr. Herman Kenning, the Cavalier mermen realized an ambition that had eluded their grasp for years. This goal was a victory in a G.C.C.L. meet, which netted them second place behind Elder in the final league standings.

The pool-performers were led by Bill Nightingale, their captain and an ace freestylist. Bill, along with Rockne Morrissey, a soph who showed surprising talent, qualified for the State tank-tiff in the 200-yard free-style event.

Mike Rohde carried the Crimson colors in the back-stroke heats. Other freestyle adherents were Jim Leonard and Dick Kropf, both whizzes in the water. Jack Ruf led the field in his specialty, the breast-stroke, while Joe Nordloh and Bob Holtgrefe rounded out Purcell's strong freestyle group. The breast-stroke became the form of water-travel for Bill Scheve and John Shaul.

Activities

No sooner does the first bell sound in September than the various organizations round up new and old members to carry out their work. In addition to fulfilling a need or performing a service which helps to keep Purcell on top, these organizations give their members an opportunity to better themselves in things other than the conventional reading, writing, and arithmetic. They give their members a chance to develop all their abilities.

Provide Ever-remembered School Activities

This year the band has excelled all performances of the past. Starting with an impressive performance at the Hughes game, which consisted of colorful maneuvers in the dark, made outstanding by the lighting system, they followed up with intricate formations put into effect with snap-like precision at the following games.

To crown a perfect season Purcell's marching musicians took over their natural rivals, the Withrow band, by turning in the best show of the year. In complete darkness, except for their hatlights, they formed a pipe, blowing bubbles, a star inscribed with a "W" of blue fluorescent stars, and an illuminated Tiger. This was followed by a shining Cavalier. This spring about 75 band members, together with their soloist, Miss Ann Strauss, presented the "Springtime Serenade" of semi-classical music in pop-concert style. Among the selections played were "The Man I Love," "Night and Day," "Donkey Serenade" and other melodies gathered from Memory Lane with the Songs from Showland, "Zigeuner," "Tea for Two" and "Dancing In the Dark."

We can be sure our band will climb to ever greater heights in the future under the supervision of Brother Joseph Keimig and the musical direction of Mr. Hubert Buschle.

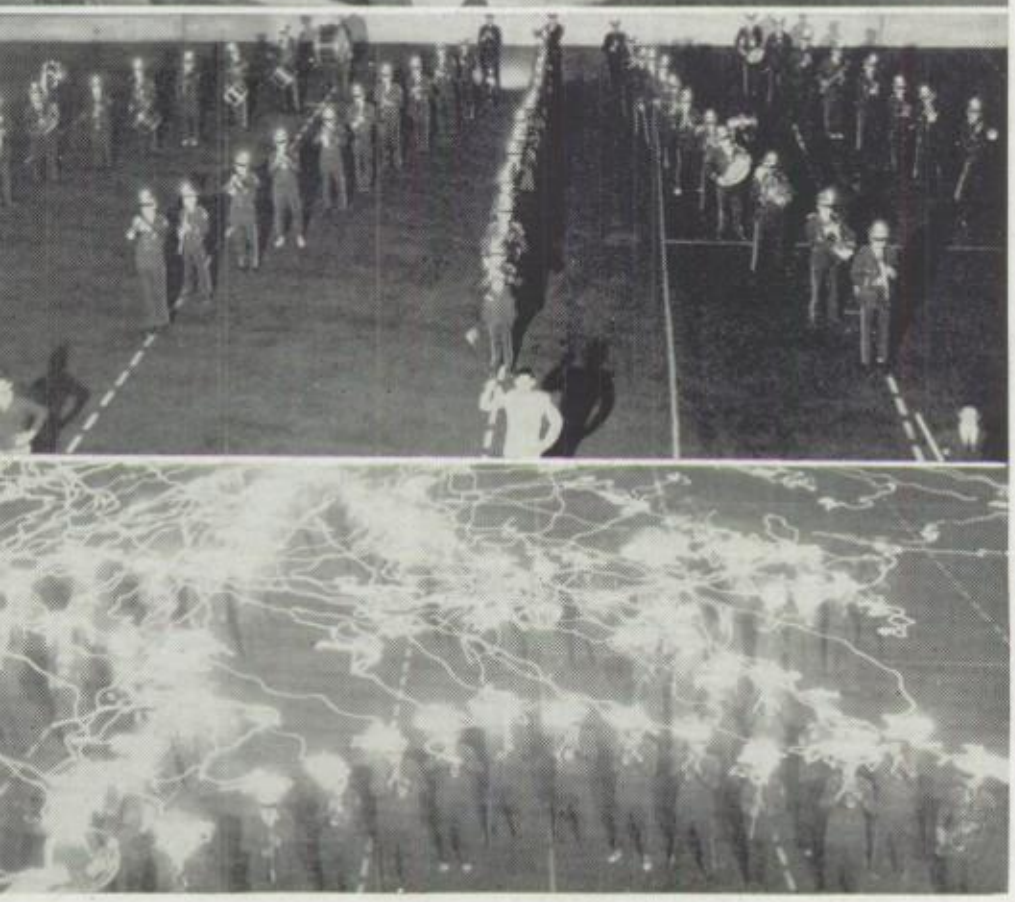
Springtime Concert

PURCELL'S Band responded to the baton of Mr. Hubert Buschle to begin the second annual "Springtime Serenade." On the nights of April 30, May 1, 2, 5, 6, and 9, capacity crowds thrilled to the strains of semi-classical music in the pop concerts featuring "Songs from Showland" and "Melodies of Memory Lane," "Tea for Two," "Dancing in the Dark." "Zigeuner," and "Rosemarie" were headliners in the parade of showland hits. Old favorites, "Jelousie," "I love a Parade," "When Day is Done," recalled pleasant memories of yesteryears. The lovely prima donna of the concerts, Miss Ann Strauss, charmed her audiences by the beauty of her singing.

Days of planning, arranging and practicing, together with an appropriate dine-and-dance atmosphere, set the stage for the never-to-be-forgotten Serenade of 1948. Once again the Cavalier band has added its share to the glories of the Crimson and Gold.



During the halftime ceremonies, His Royal Highness "Duke" Udry captures the enthusiasm of the hushed throng with tremendous twirls.

With an air of solemnity, the Purcell band plays a Memorial-Day tribute to war dead, as the crowd stands at rapt attention.

With a magnificent flourish, Maestro Hubert Buschle inaugurates an early-morning rehearsal with Purcell's Philharmonic Society in the cafeteria.

A segment of the "P" "H" "S" is seen playing the school song before a crowded stadium of Purcell followers.

At the "48" Football Banquet the orchestra plays "Begin the Beguine" for the enjoyment of the squad and fans.

As a climaxing maneuver the band plays at attention in radiating lines as a final tribute to the "glowing" Cavalier.

This star will ever bring back pleasant memories of a "Star Dust" band performance at the Withrow game.

Sacrifice—The Motto Lives In Cavaliers

PURCELL'S unit of the C.S.M.C combined all the elements of democracy and political tactics as well as religious inspiration, to bring about the election of a Cavalier as president of the Local Conference. A delegation of Purcellites took the convention hall by storm last spring and came away with the presidency for this year completely confirmed. Besides taking control of the local administration, the Purcell Unit inaugurated a new policy concerning the distribution of the Shield. Individual payments were eliminated by the sponsorship of a dance to cover subscription fees.

Aside from the material aspects of the club, however, the Cavaliers, one hundred per cent members in the organization, temporarily dismissed their cares and studies to participate in the Annual Retreat, the greatest expression of Spiritual Fidelity possible. For many, it marked the culmination of a somewhat difficult realization of responsibilities.

WITH Father Hofstetter succeeding Father Antony as faculty moderator of the Math Club, the Cavalier Chapter again swung into high gear. As an outlet for the interests of capable math students, the club has great plans for the future. It will continue to work on various projects pertaining to mathematics as it has done this year. Among the 47-48 projects was the construction of a six-foot slide rule, complete on both sides. This model contains nearly every scale that is found on the Log Log Duplex Vector. Another project was the study of surveyors' instruments, including the transit, level, and theodolite. Brother George Spahn, S.M., from the University of Dayton, gave demonstrations of the instruments and pointed out their practical application.

Aside from their own projects the members found time to meet with members from the various local chapters to discuss various phases of mathematics at Mother of Mercy in a December meeting. The Purcell students were also preparing for the Colloquium which was held April 10 at Mother of Mercy where the best papers from each chapter competed for prizes. Dr. K. C. Schraut, noted mathematician, was the guest speaker at this climax of the year's activities.

Find Welcome Homes Through The Librarians

PURCELL is justly proud of these young men, these gentlemen who constitute the Library Staff. They have brought no cups to the school, they have not spread Purcell's name and fame far and wide, they have not all made the Honor Roll. No, they give but service — service early in the morning until late in the afternoon, service to those who have books on reserve as well as to those who have books overdue. Incompetent service? At times, yes, but willing service, nevertheless. Nor is that all! They have even ventured a library paper for your enjoyment, have organized a book club through which they could tell you about the new books in the library, have even undertaken a hobby display to aid you in your pastime. Did they meet with perfect success in these undertakings? Naturally not! But we are still proud of these young men, these gentlemen who constitute Purcell's Library Staff.

Three Wise Fools

After a brief period of inactivity, the Purcell Players organized and produced "Three Wise Fools", a delightful three-act comedy by Austin Strong. The play was presented January 18, 19, and 20 before one thousand gleeful onlookers.

The plot in a nutshell is as follows: Mr. Findlay (Bob Sheshull), Doctor Gaunt (Tom Bruggeman), and Judge Trumbull (Bill Favret), the three fools, are willed a dying woman's child. The appearance of the orphan, Sidney (Bob Lauch), startles everyone, for "he" is a beautiful girl. Findlay's handsome but ir-

Coffee and cream is served between apples and hot water to the Fools and Sidney.

Mr. Findlay administers a verbal shellacking to the ever-patient servants, Saunders and Douglas.

responsible nephew, Gordon (Lee Liebel), soon falls madly in love with her.

An escaped convict (John Brown) attempts to murder Judge Trumbill, and when Sidney is arrested for helping him get away, the three wise fools disown her. Gordon then convinces them she was desperately trying to shield her father (Charles Ingersoll), one of the prison-breakers. The police capture Benny, who confesses that he framed Sidney's father.

Gordon and Sidney get engaged and the three wise fools return to their "ruts" and "buttercups". Tom McDonough and John Johannigman deserve special mention for their performance as hilarious servants.

Practice began in earnest the first week of December. Every evening of rehearsal was embellished by ad-libs and laughs. Even the three performances were filled with unforeseen humor: sagging scenery, the breakdown of Findlay's chair, cake-snatching detectives, and Tom Barrett's inauspicious encore.

It was through the efforts and inspirational leadership of co-directors Brothers Charles Rossman and Maurice Beyer that the play achieved outstanding success.

Trophy Taggers Master Verb-ballistics

That limb of the Hackberry Tree which has been most fruitful this past season is the Senior Debate Club. Its members constantly strove to prevent decadence; their whole effort was to increase its v?ality by amassing enough points to warrant acceptance into the National Forensic League. In fulfilling its purpose to teach young men to reason for themselves in such a way as to be able to convince or instruct others—the club automatically entertains its members, for they can politely "let off steam" in a league debate or just plain "blow their top" in Room 16. Diligent practice and research, travel, and the guidance of Fr. Lekan and Bro. Rossman molded these boys into the champioin debaters of the Greater Cincinnati and entire southwestern Ohio leagues.

Forensic Fledglings

PURCELL'S Junior Debaters, comprised of Freshmen and Sophomore students, faced stiff opposition in winning fifteen and losing an equal number of debates. Since Purcell is the only school in the league which has a Junior Debate Club, the members had to meet the "B" teams of other schools, which were composed of older youths, Junior and Senior students. In spite of this, the Cavalier team gave a good account of itself while training to join the Senior team. The records show wins over Middletown, Dayton Oakwood, Hamilton Public, Regina, Hughes, and Mount St. John in Dayton.

Next year Brother Charles Rossman, moderator of the Junior debate team, hopes to renew Purcell's charter in the National Forensic League.

COMPOSE, sketch, photograph, layout, print and finally—the goal is reached—The class of 1948 presents this year's "Cavalier"!

Perhaps to some who scan these pages it is just another year book produced by just another class, but to those industrious young men who have given so much of their time and effort to present this detailed account, and to all those who have supplied the material, it means a great deal more. To them it is a personal diary of every Cavalier; a precious hold on each fleeting hour of youth. Read it well! Overlook its imperfections and appreciate its qualities!

The theme of this year's annual, "Hackberry Leaves", was inspired by the hackberry trees which line the streets in the vicinity of Purcell. Once the title was decided on, the work progressed rapidly.

Most of the photographic work was very capably undertaken by Bro. Louis A. Weber, S.M., who has supervised the publishing of Purcell annuals for several years. The Senior members of the Art Club formed the art staff and spent much of their time after class planning and laying out the pages.

The Senior write-ups, articles, and picture descriptions were produced through the the efforts of the staff writers, while advertisements and other financial matters were handled very efficiently by the business staff and cooperation received from the underclassmen.

Thus the largest graduating class in the history of Purcell joins the honorable ranks of the Alumni, and in passing presents this their record of achievement—The 1948 "Cavalier"!

Dick Heller, Jerry Weber, Dan Hogan, comprising our competent art staff; they have labored faithfully since early fall.

Staff writers C. Stinson, P. Gabriel, T. McCoy, K. Haas, F. Widmer, and H. Ruether review their articles before sending them to press.

Those sparkling sports articles merit honors for Ed Hart, Jack Hogan and Sonny Haines, the "Joe Aston" of Purcell.

You've Got It Now Yell It Let's Go

PLENTY of punch is packed by the colorful cheerleaders from the House on Hackberry. The other requisites for successful rooters are also possessed by this cavorting crew. Here is fire to kindle Cavalier spirit; and plenty of excess energy — to keep this stalwart group at their exhausting activity.

On the scene of every lively school event, the moral boosters of Purcell went "all out" to make it a success.

The Crimson and Gold cheerleaders mastered their snappy formations, handsprings, somersaults and other muscle-twisting contortions in time to help lead the Cavaliers and their faithful followers to shining victory and enjoyable games.

The novelty performance of the year was credited to the Withrow game, where the yellmen introduced Bob Foppe's pet goat "Sis" to the Cavalier football fans.

A great deal of Bro. Beyer's time has been devoted to his eager charges. This practice, along with a native enthusiasm and gaily hued, new uniforms, have combined to make this not only the largest, but the most successful squad in school history.

Yellow-jackets Checker Busy Socials

Serving the public is, naturally the major purpose of Purcell's Service Club. This group, under the watchful eyes of Brother Robert Geary, has cultivated a courteous and gentlemanly manner of handling the public, as all their actions are immediate credit on the school.

A competent, well-trained staff, all the duties they have assumed are completed quietly and efficiently. Arrayed in their crimson-and-gold uniforms, the members may be seen performing many chores, ranging from selling programs at football games to escorting pious Sisters at education conventions.

The welfare association heartily commends the Service Club for the numerous ways in which it assists their meetings, card parties, and bazaars.

When asked to work, the members find a deep satisfaction in "pulling together" and in assuming responsibility for the smooth running of Purcell's social affairs.

The president of the club during the 1947 school year was Paul Merland.

The Plume All-American Publication

Relaxing at the end of another successful season, the Plume Staff reminisces about the past issues. Two new major columns were introduced and another was revamped. Herk Ruether's "Melody Notes" and the "Professions" articles made tremendous hits with the student body and received much acclaim.

Tailored to the New Look and instilled with youth appeal, "Here's Looking at You" became much more satisfactory to the average reader.

Also new to the Plume were the various polls submitted to the students. In September, Junior Class News Men: Ted Moore, Louis Guntzelman, Bill Udry, Allen Siefert, James Buse, Lawrence Strittmatter, Richard Thiery.

Senior Class News Men: James Riedy, Sonny Haines, Charles Stinson, Henry Liebel, Kenneth Haas.

Frosh Class News Men: Robert Hemmerle, Carl Frank, Thomas Meyers, Paul Fleming, Joseph Cherney.

"Manners for Maidens" caused quite a stir among the weaker sex in Cincinnati while the United-Nations poll in November brought out Purcell's interest in world affairs.

"Melody Notes" and "Here's Looking at You" also conducted polls in their respective fields. on the Sports front, Editor Harold Haines, with the able assistance of Bill Udry and Lou Palumbo, scattered tears and cheers, depending on the score, across their columns, while covering an ever-increasing number of sports events at Cavalier Castle.

Although the Plume is rather a literary magazine than a news periodical, News Editor Thomas Bruggeman managed to keep far enough in advance of coming events that they actually appeared as news in the Plume. However, no little praise is due his competent assistants: Ken Haas, Len Supple, Ed Hart, Paul Hahn, Paul Merland, Paul Palmisano, Tom Reardon and Tom McManus.

Much of the feature work was done by Tom Mott, Thomas McCoy and Charles Stinson. John Connelly edited and selected the class news for publication.

Commercial Club

Have you ever taken time to inquire who decorates the cafeteria for the dances, bazaars, and Welfare Meetings? Well, it may interest you to note that this is an undertaking of the Commercial Club. The services just mentioned are only a few of the many activities in which its members are engaged.

Twin "C" representatives sell concert, play, and dance tickets and assist Brother Maurice Beyer, their faculty moderator, in making arrangements for the Junior and Senior Proms. They take charge of refreshment booths and check rooms during dances, along with managing the sale of Turkey Raffle cards. The officers draw up financial reports after each affair, enabling them to put into practice their theories of bookkeeping.

The officers for 1948 include: President, Vert Fluor; Vice President, Bernie Bedinghaus, and co-chairmen, Greg Poulin and "Sharpie" King.

Student Representation Proves Effective

PURCELL'S Student Council went enthusiastically into its second year of operation. Its members purposed to promote student government, uphold rules adopted for the general welfare of the entire school, increase scholastic achievement, foster closer relations between the various divisions, and coordinate the diverse activities of Purcell. While they did not complete all their undertakings or pass all the motions, they did, keeping in mind their limitations and the principles they were to uphold, select and realize the more appropriate ideas and projects. Among the topics and motions discussed during the year were school buses, Christmas cards, a smoker, sanitary facilities, assemblies; and the various school drives were given support and encouragement. Because particular clauses of the constitution paralized the usefulness of the council, and since certain problems arose from presented motions, the constitution was revised to insure proper selection of the council's membership. It is to be hoped that the revision will facilitate an easier and more positive means of carrying out the purpose of the council.

The publication of a bulletin caused commotion and brought to the attention of the population of Purcell the necessity for active representatives. The enjoyable St. Patrick's Day celebration held by the seniors proved that cooperation is essential.

Radio Club

What's that?—You say you can't get anything but static on your radio? Well, think nothing of it, lady, it's just Brother Jansen and his Radio Club trying out their new Radio set." The above conversation did not take place, and probably never will. But it can show to what extent the Radio Club will go to gain practical experience in the field of radio. The club was organized for those students whose curiosity and thirst for knowledge could not be appeased in the Physics, or Radio and Electricity classes. And with the abundant parts from Army Surplus equipment, you can be sure that they will leave nothing undone and nothing untouched.

So, if someday your radio stops playing and you hear nothing but static, don't call the repair man; just tune in on Brother Jansen's boys.

Appeasing the desire of students to exercise their vocal organs, without benefit of shower or tub, and satisfying the need for an organization that can easily set the mood for various occasions, whether spiritual or recreational are the Purcell Singers, a vocal ensemble initiated this year by Bro. Frank Schneider.

Aside from the acquisition of pleasure, the members, composed of students from all four divisions, attained a degree of perfection and presented a list of accomplishments that is indeed impressive, considering the time and facilities appropriated to them.

Showing their true Cavalier Spirit, the singers practiced before classes twice a week and, in preparation for Christmas, added evening rehearsals to their schedule.

Their singing gave the proper touch to our Christmas and graduation programs, while their "Irish" songs captivated the Welfare. Two feathers in their cap were the invitation to sing at Lytle Park and the placement of several members in the C Y O musical.

Cavaliers Cop Awards In Varied Fields

THESE Cavaliers distinguished themselves and brought greater fame to Purcell by winning various awards.

Thomas McCoy, Herman Ruether, Paul Hahn and Kenneth Haas comprise the varsity teams that won the Southwestern Ohio District Debate Tournament and also the Greater Cincinnati Speech League Tournament. Paul Palmisano and Paul Hahn placed in the city finals in Extemporaneous Speaking. Bob Sheshull took first place in Dramatic Declamation Speaking, and Charles Stinson placed in Humorous Declamation. Roger Towle, Martin Mountel, James Niehaus, Donald Bond, Paul Fleming and Victor Hemmerle won awards in the annual Catholic Author Contest. Thomas Ray, Ed Best, Don Stump, Bill Simon, Larry Claus, Ray Kennedy, Rob Holtgrefe, Bill Imwalle, Walter Clemens, and Paul Fleming won prizes in various art contests. Elmer Schmidt won an award in the Photography Division of the National Scholastic Awards Contest.

Charles Stinson, Peter Wilton, Firmin Widmer and Lawrence Koenig passed the N. R. O. T. C. Test given by the United States Navy in connection with their program for securing reserve officers.

With a melancholy murmur an autumnal wind catches a band of swirling leaves leaves and rustles them against a library window. Within the still confines of this room, a group of avid readers are casting aside the mystic, gossamer veil of space and time to listen to immortal men of the past and present. The pages of their books whisper to hungry eyes the advice and example of these kings of wisdom and give them guidance and strength in forming their own destinies.

This fanciful group, Purcell's Book Club, conducts a monthly meeting for the furthering of their interest in books. Various selections are reviewed and discussed in these meetings, which are directed by Tom Mott.

These Cavaliers have learned and are trying to teach others the value of projecting themselves into the seclusion of an author's fancy, thus to escape the sordid world of reality, where dying summer winds hurry Nature to its wintry grave.

The Crimson Club entertained the Cavaliers with the "Christmas Carol" before they dispersed for their Yuletide vacation.

Bro. Moore's early morning journalism fledgings drag themselves away from hot typewriters to greet the photographers.

Tom Bruggeman, Paul Gabriel, Lou Palumbo, Leo Weber, and Joe Meyer flash a smile for the engineer.

Members of the Senior society, the Crimson Club, are snapped while meeting to discuss projects.

Crimson Club

Few organizations at Purcell inspire as much self-confidence and leadership in their members as the Crimson Club. This exclusive group is made up of the more active students in the Senior class, and it is the hope of every ambitious underclassman to be chosen for membersip in his final year.

The tasks undertaken by these boys are many and varied, ranging from representing Purcell at numerous civic affairs, to producing and dramatizing their own "pep" rallies and plays. The activities of the Crimson Club are supervised by Bro. Elmer Moore, S.M. whose interest and enthusiasm in the organization have inspired its members to greater heights. As a result of Bro's early-morning journalism courses, several of the boys have acquired a valuable fund of knowledge, together with planned tours of the three Cincinnati newspaper buildings.

Many other projects included entering speech contest, interviewing prominent Cincinnati businessmen, and judging the preliminaries of the C.S.M.C. oratorical contest.

Father Charles Guilfoyle, Passionist retreat master, waits in his confession room to give advice and hear confessions of retreatants.

Graduating Seniors receive Holy Communion with their mothers.

Underclassmen close their retreat with the reception of Christ.

Students' Annual Retreat

EVERY year the Cavaliers of Purcell take time out from their feverish scholastic activities to make a serious check-up on the spiritual progress they have made during the past year. So immediately following the January examinations, every Cavalier turns from a boy concerned with worldly interests, to a man working toward this idea — Christ the Son of Mary.

The retreat was very successfully conducted by Father Charles Guilfoyle, C.P., who gave excellent conferences and advice.

Throughout the time of the retreat every student lived in intimate conversation with Christ by keeping silence in order that he might acquire the true, humble and sincere spirit of the Savior. He also made a concrete, a firm resolution to lead a better Catholic gentlemen's life. And by receiving Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament on the last day of the retreat, each Cavalier pledged himself to follow with more conviction the Catholic way of life.

Classical Collaborators

ARS gratia artis — this would be a perfect motto for the Art Club, if they were looking for one. But they are much too busy looking for something else. Cooperation, talent, and originality are the objects of their search. The members seek students with these qualities to supplement a very active, select group. And verily, they are active, as a look at their year's activity slate will prove. For example, a sixty-page magazine was illustrated through silk screen process by the club; and members designed four original recruiting posters for the Society of Mary, then printed two hundred copies of each on the silk screen. A great deal of the advertising art for various activities and bazaars throughout the school year is the output of this cliqué. The decorations for the football banquet and rallies are additional productions. These may appear difficult accomplishments, but Bro. Weber's boys don't mind, for they really enjoy their labor. After all "their's is not to reason why, their's is but to do and die."

Artists Brush Novel Ideas Into Life

NEW life is injected into old Rome by the patricians of Advocati Latini. The Junior-Senior organization, which holds: "Facta non Verba" as its slogan, comes into its own during Latin Week. Several skits are given consideration until finally one is chosen for publication. Throughout the week, members of the club distribute placards and posters to the various homerooms and classes.

In order to better understand and familiarize themselves with literary Latin, several of the members subscribe to "Res Gestae," a Canadian publication, printed entirely in Latin. And at each meeting one or two of the members reads a prepared report concerning some phase of Latin.

The Senior members receive gold pins as tokens of fond farewell to the ancient orators of Latium, whom they have come to know so well.

Triple A-C Attracts Many

AQUINAS Club, Alert, Cincinnatians, America Catholic, the triple "AC" club members search for solutions to the problems that lie in the field of science. Organized in May, 1946 by Fr. Wilhelm, the Triple "AC" 'ers. draw membership from three boys' and seven girls' high schools. Their first meeting was held that same month and a constitution was adopted in December, 1947. Each school sends to the governing board two representatives who, in turn, elect officers. Robert Curry and Patrick Close are the representative officers for the sixty-odd Cavaliers who earned membership by either an 80 average in science or participation in one of the school science clubs. For the meetings, speakers are obtained from those in the club as well as men in scientific work. The purpose is to clarify and broaden their knowledge of the scientific world in the words of high-school students.

Not only do these mothers keep a watchful eye at home but also willingly donate their time to chaperone a Purcell dance. Confident their sons and daughters are enjoying a well-conducted affair, the parents at home are duly grateful.

Checking over the receipts of another successful Fall bazaar are chairmen Fred Clough and John McPhillips. Many of the improvements made throughout the school year are fully or partially dependent on the Welfare Association's financial aid.

Hard work and little glory characterize the Women's Committee of Purcell's Fall Festival. Compliments are in order for Mrs. James Anaruma, Mrs. David Uhlfelder, Mrs. Michael Siefart, and Mrs. James McGowan for their valuable assistance.

Welfare Association

A WILTING or decayed leaf is a sad occurrence on a healthy tree. Most of the time a "little boost" would have effected a cure where negligence would mean disaster for the infected cells. Aware of this, Purcell officials devised an excellent preventive. This was parent-teacher contact — an important point, if understanding of conduct reprimands, grades or student problems which arise are to be remedied. It was for this main purpose that the Welfare Association was originated.

At each monthly meeting the parents may consult the teachers about their boy and find out exactly how he is doing. After this consultation a business conference is held to report on past accomplishments and plan for future enterprises. Money is raised through the annual Fall Festival, held this school season on the nights of October 22 and 23, and also by the Pre-Lenten Card Party, held February 10. The cash is then put to use to furnish the necessary improvements around the school.

This year 532 new lockers were installed to enable each student of the record enrollment to have his own private locker. Improvements were made in the Ladies' Room facilities also. A new amplifier and new equipment were installed in the cafeteria, with Cellotex sound insulation for the acoustics. Thus all noise is confined to the cafeteria, and conflicting echoes are absorbed. Such advancements are made each year by this organization.

After the business a social is furnished for the 600-800 parents who usually attend.

Life Springs Eternal When Catholic Youth

School Life

During the school year a variety of social events takes place here to dispel for a while the somber, serious atmosphere of learning. Cavaliers and their Cavalettes together enjoy a dance, a concert, or perhaps a banquet or a bazaar, a basketball game or a dramatic performance. These gatherings help to complete the education all Cavalier students are striving to attain under the benign shadows of the Purcell Hackberry.

Mixing Business With Pleasure

During exam week grim looks displace devilish grins as shown on the countenances of Don Daly, Joe Heink, and John Burns.

After a season of hard earned victories our invincible debating team brought renown to Purcell by capturing the Greater Cincinnati Speech League Championship trophy. Coached by Bro. C. Rossman and Fr. J. Lekan, P. Hahn, H. Ruether, T. McCoy, and K. Haas traveled upstate to win the Southern Ohio Tournament.

Bizarre Dance First Entre

Park style dance failed to crowd the wood with P.H.S. boys. This free dance attracted academy stags in vain hope of alluring spendthrifts. Cavaliers, Cavalettes, and Alumni came to a Festival in the fall and a good time was had by all. Who would want to "leave" a school that can draw such feminine beauties as those pictured above. Sampling The Best Of In-school And Everyone crams the day before the finals, including these three brainy Juniors who find hope and consolation in this method of study, minutes before the test starts.

Upperclassmen witnessed a very close debate on "Compulsory Arbitration" between the OLA squad, and Purcell's No. 1 team.

First-year art men again decorated both blackboards in the Art Studio with murals depicting the Christmas scene with present-day significance. In the upper mural the Christman Scene is made the inspiration for many and various occupations and professions. The lower mural gives a vivid representation of a solution of all United Nations problems in the Brotherhood of all nations at the feet of the Divine Babe of Bethlehem and His Virgin Mother Mary.

Posing with their Cavalier Escorts for the day are Elaine Guver, Marilyn Henry, Jeanette Fago, Mary Lynn Maddock, Evelyn Hanko, Barbara Bock, Dottie Macke, and Shirley Windholtz. This delegation from Mercy High bravely engaged in serious discussion with our senior religion classes.

The posters that are being displayed by Jerry Weber, Dick Heller, Paul Stump and Dan Hogan were made for the Marianist Recruitment Service. These multicolor posters helped the silk screeners to realize the many problems involved in large scale production — everything from the original design to the finished work of art.

Out-of-school Life

High schoolers had a rare experience with winter sports here in Cincinnati, when a cold wave hit the Queen city along with snow and ice. The city of seven hills provided enjoyable sledding for those not interested in the solidly frozen lakes; others, meanwhile, were contented to watch the antics of the river in subzero weather. Once again the shores of the beautiful Ohio held each other in a firm clasp of ice.

Carrying out his noble task quietly and efficiently, Charles Swope pauses for a snapshot while lowering his country's flag at the end of another day. Charlie deems this a real privilege and handles it with respect.

Complex Machinery Of Modern Education

Lunch, the most enjoyable period of the day, is credited to the handiwork of Mrs. Mary Schafnitz, Miss Anna Kelly, Mrs. May Hermann, Mrs. Clara Macht, Mrs. Loretta Hermann, Mrs. Corrie Jansen, and Mrs. Viola Bell, our cafeteria ladies who dissolve every worry with cheering smiles and delicious meals.

With letter box and tweezers, Herb Lilienthal makes the necessary changes on the honor roll, climaxing another six weeks period. Those whose names appear have an enviable average of 90% or over.

The Cincinnati Street Railway Is Out In Front With Purcell

Remember those mornings you over-slept and came late for school? You need not answer; of course you recall very vividly, because it meant detention. This would happen more frequently if it were not for the easy transportation the Cincinnati Street Railway provides for students. They see to it that you get to school, rain or shine, just as they help your dad get to work. Because of this convenient service, the Cincinnati Street Railway is out in front with the students of Purcell.

Planning For The Future

In the final analysis, good telephone service depends largely on men and women who are well trained and skilled in their jobs.

Plan now to become a part of the telephone organization when you graduate from high school. You will find that telephone people like their jobs — and that every job is important. The pay is good. The work is steady. The Company's Benefit and Pension Plan helps employees and their families in times of sickness, accident, old age, and death. And the opportunity for advancement is open to all.
